MacArthur's Forces Make New Gains In Borneo Drive

New Landing In Drive For Borneo Rubber And Oil

Gen. MacArthur's Campaign In Borneo Continues To Expand Steadily

TEN-MILE GAIN IN ONE SECTOR

By FRANK ROBERTSON
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

MANILA, July 13.—Gen. Douglas MacArthur's campaign to regain the rich oil and rubber lands of Borneo continued to expand today with a new landing by Australians on the island's northwest coast.

MacArthur revealed that elements of the Ninth Australian division—the famed "Rats of Tobruk"—went ashore near Andus, 26 miles northeast of previously captured Beaufort. At the same time that these Aussies stormed ashore to seize a beachhead without opposition, other units of the same division scored a brilliant 10-mile gain along the Beaufort-Jesselton railway.

10-Mile Spurt

The 10-mile spurt carried the "Diggers" into Kimanis, 21 miles northeast of Beaufort. At Kimanis, these Australians were only five miles to the south of the newly-established beachhead at Andus.

Air and naval units supported the landings, which MacArthur declared caught the Japs by "surprise."

Meantime, troops of the Seventh Australian division extended their

Four Powerful Fleets To Converge On Japan

By JOSEPH A. BORS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 13.—At least four powerful, battle-tested American fleets with their carrier-borne aerial armadas may converge soon against the heart of the Japanese empire to smash the enemy's invasion defenses.

That opinion was expressed today by naval analysts who insisted that a realignment of American and allied seapower in the Pacific obviously will be made for softening up blows similar to ones that paved the way for the invasion of Normandy.

Just what the alignment will be is known only to the high command, but whatever it may be called it probably will be made up of the following well-known fleets, plus other units from the European theater:

Fleets Concerned

Admiral William F. Halsey's famous third fleet, which has been engaged recently in new blows against the Jap homeland.

Admiral Raymond A. Spruance's Jap-busting fifth fleet, which in

Gen. Eisenhower Takes New Post

PARIS, July 13.—(INS)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower bid farewell today as supreme commander to Allied forces which served under him throughout the campaign in western Europe.

The general issued a message marking the dissolution of supreme headquarters of the Allied Expeditionary Force which terminates all activity at 12:01 a. m. tomorrow.

Message Given

Issued "to all members of the Allied Expeditionary Forces," the message said:

"The task which we set ourselves is finished and the time has come for me to relinquish the combined command.

"In the name of the United States and the British commonwealth, from whom my authority is derived, I should like to convey to you the gratitude and admiration of our two nations for the manner in which you have responded to every demand that has been made upon you.

"I should like also to add my personal word of thanks to each one of you for the part you have played and the contribution you have made to our joint victory.

"Now that you are about to pass to other spheres of activity I say goodbye to you and wish you good luck and God speed."

Officials of the British-operated United Railways expressed the opinion the wreck may have been caused by sabotage.

Army Bomber And Airliner Crash In Air

LAMAR, S. C., July 13.—(INS)—The skill of a passenger airline pilot was credited today with averting a major tragedy when an army bomber plowed into the airliner in midair, causing the death of three persons, one a year-old baby.

Witnesses said the airliner, bound from Miami to Boston with 18 passengers and a crew of three, and the bomber, on a routine practice flight from the Florence, S. C., training base, were 3,000 feet up when the bomber struck the airliner from above and behind.

As an investigation of the crash got under way today, witnesses lauded the airline pilot, Capt. G. D. Davis of Miami. Although one of his motors had been torn away and the wings and controls damaged, he safely belly-landed his in a cornfield.

The year-old infant of Mrs. A. E. Williams of New York City was fatally injured when a wing of the army bomber penetrated the airliner's cabin.

The other two victims, Corp. Raleigh B. Albaugh, Jr., and Robert B. Clapp, both of Oklahoma City, Okla., died when the bomber burst into flames and crashed. The lone member of the bomber crew to escape was injured in a parachute landing. He was not immediately identified.

Divergent Views On Proposal To State Peace Terms

Senators Differ On Attitude Toward Stating Terms With "Unconditional Surrender"

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Proposals that the United States tell the Japanese the terms of peace that go with "unconditional surrender" provoked sharply divergent views in the senate today.

While there appeared to be unanimous opposition to a "soft" peace, some senators expressed belief that if terms were stated the chances of an early Japanese surrender would be increased.

Opposite View

Others, however, took the view that any such statement would be fiewed by the Japanese as a weakness on the part of the United States and her Allies, and would make victory costlier.

Meantime, two developments were reported in the controversy stated by the declaration of Sen. Capehart (R) Ind., who said that Japan had put out "peace feelers" and urged that the United States name "minimum terms" of peace. They were:

1. A group of senators considered seeking a private conference with state department officials on the question.

2. A nationally known magazine publisher, recently returned from the Pacific, backed the Capehart proposal at a private luncheon with Republican senators.

Might Help

Sen. Hart (R) Conn., formerly Admiral Hart in command of the American Asiatic Fleet, with a wide knowledge of the Japanese, said:

"With correct timing—and I repeat, correct timing—I can see possibility that a more definite statement on the positive side might help matters.

"Further, that right now if the Japanese want to know what we mean by unconditional surrender, they'd better ask us."

Sen. Magnuson (D) Wash., de-

DENIES RUMORS JAPS SEEK PEACE

NEW YORK, July 13.—(INS)—Sadao Iguchi, spokesman of the Japanese board of information, "flatly refuted rumors" that Japan was seeking peace," the Jap Domei agency said today.

Iguchi's statement was in reply to an announcement Tuesday by U. S. Undersecretary of State Joseph C. Grew that the Japs had been putting out peace feelers. Grew called them "inquiries as to our position" and warned that the Jap efforts were "familiar weapons of psychological warfare."

Estimate Japs Hoarding 4,000 Battle Planes

Disclose New Types Of U. S. Planes Prepared To Cope With Them

By GEORGE McWILLIAMS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

GUAM, July 13.—Rear Adm. D. C. Ramsey, new chief of staff for the U. S. Fifth Fleet, disclosed today that the Navy has operative and further planned "many new types" of fighters and bombers to cope with the estimated 4000 combat planes being hoarded by the Japs.

The Japs are believed to be husbanding this many combat aircraft to meet the anticipated attack on their homeland.

Included among the new American types mentioned by Ramsey is the F7F "Tigercat," a twin-engined fighter-bomber capable of 425 miles an hour speed. This plane now is in large-scale production: it is able to carry a 4000-pound bombload or a torpedo, and has more firepower than a Hellcat or Wildcat.

Jet-Propulsion Planes

Ramsey said the Navy bureau of aeronautics has jet-propelled planes and pointed out that "jet-propulsion will become more important in the Pacific war."

"The Germans were way ahead of us on jet planes," Ramsey said, "but we are getting new information from European sources as fast as we can."

The new CVB's—like the Franklin D. Roosevelt—will have 20 percent more striking power than the Essex class carriers, Ramsey said. He estimated that the Japs have approximately 9000 planes of all types left, of which many undoubtedly will be used as Kamikazes as the Americans close in on Japan.

"I think the Kamikaze threat will increase as Japan's peril increases," declared Ramsey, who lives at Avon-by-the-Sea, N. J., he takes over his new duties Monday, succeeding Rear Adm. A. C. Davis.

Connally Sees Charter Approval By Committee

Senator Forecasts Committee Action Will Be Favorable By 21-2 Vote

WASHINGTON, July 13.—(INS)—Sen. Tom Connally (D) Tex., chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, predicted today that the United Nations charter will be approved by a committee vote of at least 21 to 2—falling short of a unanimous report.

"There will be a maximum of two votes against it," Connally said.

His admission that the report—to be made tonight or tomorrow—probably will not be unanimous came as hearings on the charter entered its "Friday the 13th" finale with John Foster Dulles, legal adviser to the American delegation at San Francisco, and Social Party Leader Norman Thomas as the principal closing witnesses.

After Bretton Woods Action

At the same time, Senate Majority Leader Barkley of Kentucky announced that the charter would not be taken up in the senate until after the Bretton Woods monetary proposals have been considered. He indicated the security document probably will not reach the floor until a week from Monday. Plans were made to run in the tax adjustment and aviation bills immediately after the monetary agreements.

Connally's prediction was con-

Cruiser Torn Apart By Typhoon Reaches Port In Two Parts

By KENNETH McCALEB
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

GUAM, July 13.—For quite a while they called the U. S. Pittsburgh, a heavy cruiser, "the longest ship in the navy" and today it is permissible to tell why.

For more than a week, the Pittsburgh's stern and bow were as much as 500 miles apart after the staunch ship was torn apart by a terrific western Pacific typhoon early the morning of June 5.

How she survived without losing a single man of her more than 1,000 personnel, how Capt. John E. Gingrich of Dodge City, Kan., brought her into calm waters and finally into port—in two pieces and five days apart—may now be told.

This correspondent heard it from Gingrich and others aboard the larger, sternmost portion of the Pittsburgh when it put in at Guam.

Reveal Typhoon Damages Fleet

Twenty-One Warships Of Halsey's Fleet Damaged In June 5 Storm

MAJORITY OF SHIPS BACK IN ACTION

By JOHN R. HENRY
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

GUAM, July 13.—More than 21 U. S. warships were battered and crippled when Adm. William F. Halsey's Third Fleet was trapped by a thunderous typhoon between Okinawa and the Philippines on June 5, authorities revealed today.

Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz' headquarters, in a special announcement, disclosed the heavy blows dealt the Navy.

No Vessels Lost

Crashing through black mountainous waves which a 120-knot predawn wind blasted into proportions of walled canyons, Halsey's force suffered more widespread damage than the Japanese airforces ever have been able to inflict in any single action since Pearl Harbor.

Tons of water crashing across their flight decks bashed and twisted "topside" installations on two fast heavy carriers, as well as on three huge battlewagons, but headquarters officials stated that no vessels were lost.

Further, these spokesmen added, the majority of the damaged ships now have been repaired and returned to action.

More Japanese Cities Are Targets In Bomber Raids

B-29s Again Strike At Japan Other Bombers Also Stage Raids

HALSEY'S FLEET STILL ON PROWL

By JOHN R. HENRY
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

GUAM, July 13.—While secrecy continued to shroud the movements of the powerful U. S. Third Fleet which was believed still prowling off Japan, the Tokyo radio said that Ogaki, Kagamigahara, Tsurumi and Koriyama were raided by 500 to 550 B-29s along with three other "lesser" cities.

The other communities mentioned by Tokyo were Inchinomiya, Tsugura and Utsunomiya—all of which were identified by the Twenty-First Bomber Command as among the cities raided before dawn. American circles also told of the fire-bombing of Uwajime on Honshu and the demolition bombing of the Kawasaki petroleum center on an island in Tokyo Bay.

Mines Are Sown

In addition, the enemy broadcasts said that some B-29s sowed mines in Wasaki Bay, off the coast of Fukui prefecture on the western side of Honshu. According to the Japs, all the fires were extinguished quickly, while damage was termed "negligible." However, returning American fliers indicated that their bombing was effective.

Scarcely any Japanese fighters rose to intercept the Marianas-based Superfortresses, and headquarters of the Twenty-First Bomber Command announced that enemy anti-aircraft fire was meagre at all the targets.

Planes Range Far

Though Nimitz failed to mention activities of the Third Fleet, whose Task Force 38 destroyed or damaged 154 enemy planes in the Tokyo area Tuesday, he did reveal that planes of Fleet Airwings One and 18 ranged as far as the Whangpoo river near Shanghai and the Sendai area along the Honshu coast of Japan.

In announcing the raid on the Whangpoo river area, Nimitz said that an Okinawa-based search

Round-The-Clock Bombing Of Japan Is Near At Hand

MANILA, July 13.—(INS)—American military circles pledged today that round-the-clock bombing of Japan was at hand, and in this the enemy concurred.

Shortly after Gen. George C. Kenney, commanding the U. S. Far Eastern Air Forces, promised that bombing of the enemy homeland would be carried out on a 24-hour-a-day basis, the enemy's Domei agency said that such a rate already has been attained.

"The enemy's air activities have been stepped up, and we cannot help saying that the 24-hour bombing has become a reality," Domei declared. The enemy agency added:

Two B-29 Crewmen Fight Desperately To Loosen Bombs

Battle High Over Japan To Cut Loose Bombs Stuck In Their Superfortress

By KENNETH McCALEB
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

GUAM, July 13.—Two B-29 crewmen hung on to a shattered bomb bay high above the Japan city of Tsuruga early today, fighting a desperate fight to loosen three huge clusters of incendiary bombs stuck in their Superfortress.

The Yank airmen battled the bombs, a tearing wind and intense cold at 15,000 feet altitude.

The dramatic experience of Tech. Sgt. Robert L. DeJong of (10516 Wadlow street) Pittsburgh, Pa., and another crewman was revealed upon the return of their bomber to Tinian.

In 313th Bombardment Wing

The B-29 which experienced the trouble was one of Brig. Gen. John H. Davies 313th Bombardment Wing.

Over the target, one cluster of incendiaries struck the rear of the bomb bay. Before anything could be done, it fell loose, crashed through the doors, buckling them and knocking out the motor for closing them.

Hanging on "by a finger and a prayer," DeJong and his companion entered the bomb bay and after several minutes in the freezing temperature and rarified atmosphere succeeded in closing the rear doors by by use of an improvised cable.

Meanwhile, another cluster had struck the forward bomb bay door and pulled out the arming pin of two other bombs remaining.

Radio Operator Sgt. Earl D. Thorson of Gary, S. D., and Bombardier Lieut. Clarence P. Weber of Minneapolis, wrestled with the incendiaries. They replaced the arming pins and hacked loose the shackles with an axe.

DIVERGENT VIEWS ON PROPOSAL TO STATE PEACE TERMS

clared that the defect in the Capehart proposal is that "he misunderstands the Japanese mind."

"The whole force of the propaganda leading Japan to war was that we are soft," said Magnuson. "Now, if we intimate that we are willing to quit under terms less than total surrender, the Japanese war lords will say to their people, 'see, they are getting soft!'"

Need Complete Defeat

Sen. Barkley, Ky., Democratic senate leader, sought to scotch the Capehart proposal.

"I share in the anxiety to end this war and to end the slaughter involved in it," he said. "But, in addition, I also share the feeling that in order that another war may not be encouraged, may be prevented, at least, in the Pacific, the defeat of Japan must be a complete defeat."

One Pacific coast senator, who declined to be quoted, said that a statement of terms should be made to Japan but that it should be handled without publicity, so that the Japanese could not turn it to their own propaganda ends.

Anticipated "No" Votes

Connally's appraisal was understood to be based upon anticipated "no" votes from Johnson and Sen. Henrik Shipstead (R) Minn. Shipstead, home in Minnesota, has not attended the committee hearings.

Senate colleagues of Johnson did not rule out the possibility that, despite his stand against the Versailles treaty 26 years ago and his anti-internationalist record, he might abstain from voting or vote "aye" on the new charter.

Connally and other leaders in both parties supporting the United Nations security program framed at San Francisco remained confident that the sentae would provide a "comfortable" majority over the two-thirds necessary for ratification.

Connally planned to call his committee into executive session to vote on the charter either late today or tomorrow morning. State department experts already were busy writing the "favorable" report for the committtee.

CRUISER TORN APART BY TYPHOON REACHES PORT IN TWO PARTS

assembled Pittsburgh, after a unique repair job once again will proudly sail the Pacific.

The Pittsburgh was part of a fast carrier task force which had been refueling and provisioning, and was northbound when the storm struck between Okinawa and the Philippines. Shortly before, the Pittsburgh had stood by the blazing carrier Franklin and taken off the wounded from the latter ship.

It rained all morning and the sea grew heavier, but the final blow came without warning when two tremendous waves came over and more than 100 feet of the cruiser's bow broke off and floated away.

"I'm sorry I can't give you an immortal phrase to hand down to posterity," smiled stocky, quiet-spoken Captain Gingrich, recalling the scene on the bridge.

Famous Decision

"But all I said was 'reverse engines'."

Gingrich faced the necessity of a split-second decision. If he failed to turn the ship, the sea would probably break through bulkhead 26 despite all Kircher's men could do. If that happened, the cruiser might be flooded and the men drown slowly. There was no possibility of launching small boats in the enormous seas.

If he turned the ship, it might capsize in the trough of a huge wave when it was beam-side to the storm. In that event, more than 1,000 would drown quickly.

Gingrich did not hesitate. After the "reverse engines" order, he directed that the engines be worked against each other. Soon the Pittsburgh was stern to the storm.

Meanwhile, Kircher and Lieut. (j. g.) Thomas E. Acton of Monongahela, Pa., and Fred I. Calfee of Newport, Tenn., were sweating out the damage control. In addition to shoring, holes left by torn-out cables and wiring had to be patched and plugged.

One of the four planes of the Pittsburgh's complement and the catapult were wrecked and had to go over the side before they caused more wreckage.

The floating bow was a meance, the possibility remaining that the sea might smash it against the rest of the ship.

But the Pittsburgh — built at Quincy, Mass., and commissioned in October, 1944—was a sturdy ship, and its officers and men make her a happy ship.

By noon, the storm had passed, and the Pittsburgh—or 80 per cent of it—was in calm waters 900 miles from Guam.

"There was nothing to it from then on," Gingrich declared.

positions in the Balikpapan Bay area of Eastern Borneo. Spearheaded by tanks and flame-throwers, the Seventh Division forces battered their way through increasing Japanese opposition near Mount Batochampar, five miles northeast of Balikpapan.

Move Forward

To the east, the Aussies moved forward more than a mile on Tuesday, beating down moderate Jap resistance and reaching a point two-and-one-half miles northeast of the previously-occupied Manggar airdrome.

Four-motored bombers of the Far Eastern airforces continued to lend support to the Borneo ground drives, hitting Japan air installations at Tanamon and Donggala in the northern Celebes. The raiders also dropped bombs in the Moluccas and Banda Sea areas, while other aircraft bombed enemy transport facilities and set fire to personnel areas.

Light naval vessels carried out coastal sweeps of East Indian shores, silencing several Japanese coastal batteries with direct fire.

FOUR FLEETS TO CONVERGE ON JAPAN

the past has not operated when Halsey's forces were active, but which soon may be smashing Japs along with the third fleet.

Admiral Thomas C. Kincaid's seventh fleet, which has done a superb job in the southwest Pacific supporting forces under Gen. Douglas MacArthur on his drive toward Tokyo.

Admiral Frank J. Fletcher's ninth fleet which has kept the Japs off balance in the north Pacific through numerous sorties against shipping and installations in the Kuriles area.

1,500 Warships

America's world fleet now totals approximately 1,500 warships and about 100,000 vessels of all types, including landing craft. Most of the combatant ships are in the Pacific or available for duty there now that the war in Europe is over.

Of the total about 100 are carriers of all types. Such a carrier force could put up aerial armadas totaling upwards of 4,000 planes. More than 1,200 planes were used in the strikes against Japan last February.

MAYOR'S POOL IS THRONGED

Although Today Will Result In Formal Opening, Hundreds Bathed There Thursday

Although today was the formal date designated by Mayor John F. Haven as the opening of the pool in the Neshannock creek, hundreds of young people "jumped the gun" and swam Thursday afternoon and evening. The pool, however, will open formally today with a lifeguard on duty up to 9 p. m.

Mayor John F. Haven and Cecil F. Suber and Joe Frengel of the mayor's recreation committee, worked tirelessly yesterday in getting the pool or dam (whichever one cares to call it) in shape for bathers. They were in the water from noon until the gate to dam the stream was placed.

The water rose rapidly and when the youngsters saw the clean water rising fast, they "ducked" their clothes and observers found they had bathing suits beneath their street clothes. They leaped into the stream and had a good time.

Frengel stated this morning that some of the water was escaping from the dam via the gate so General Chairman Suber and some assistants pulled out one of the "controls," let the water go down and a lot of bags filled with sand were placed beneath the gate.

More than 400 tons of gravel were placed in the stream and 125 tons of sand were placed on the embankment during the past few days. The bathhouse will not be constructed until possibly some time late next week. Each swimmer will be required to wade through a foot disinfectant pool.

Ted Castele and Herbert Stewart who have passed Red Cross lifesaving examinations will be the guards. The water will range in depth from 4.6 feet to 18 inches.

ROUND-THE-CLOCK BOMBING OF JAPAN IS NEAR AT HAND

"Moreover, we must be fully aware of the fact that these air attacks are a prelude to the invasion of our homeland."

Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced that the Seventh Army Air Force has been transferred to the Far Eastern Air Forces to participate in the "air saturation of Japan."

"It is in the process of deployment to forward bases," MacArthur said, adding:

"Headquarters of the Far East Airforces has been established on Okinawa and Army air operations from there are now under the direction of the commander-in-chief of Army forces in the Pacific."

SGT. J. U. PRISCARO GIVEN BRONZE MEDAL

(Special to The News)

WITH THE 42ND RAINBOW DIVISION OF THE THIRD ARMY IN GERMANY—Sgt. James U. Priscaro, 20-year-old son of Frank Priscaro of 308 West Madison avenue, has been awarded the bronze star medal by the famous Rainbow division for his heroism in tracing a wire across 800 yards of open field and repairing a break in the communications despite intense enemy small arms fire directed at him.

The action occurred near Furth, Germany, on April 19. As he was returning to the observation post, the enemy fire was so heavy that Sgt. Priscaro was forced to crawl and make short strokes across the terrain. "Through his action the battalion's thrust against the Furth was greatly aided."

A member of the Rainbow division since August, 1943, Sgt. Priscaro took part in the division's 450-mile smash from the Hartz mountains in France through the very heart of southern Germany to the Austrian border. He wears the combat infantryman's badge.

'There Is A Lot Of Talk Over Here—'

In a letter to his mother a Pennsylvania service man, who survived the blood Battle of Iwo Jima and is now recuperating at a rest camp somewhere in the Pacific, writes:

"There is a lot of talk over here about all those strikes back in the States. The fellows can't see where those guys rate walking out on a job that is making the stuff we need over here . . . when so many are getting killed and wounded for $50 a month. But I guess we never know how well-off we are till we're in the other guy's shoes."

This service man hasn't lost his sense of balance, he doesn't rave and rant against the strikers. He's just wondering. So are his buddies; just wondering. They're trying to figure out why war workers strike. They can't find the answer.

The boys in the Pacific aren't alone in wondering about this. A good many Americans here at home, too, are perplexed as to why rubber workers, motor workers, truck workers, shipbuilders and various other groups feel they have a right to quit making the stuff needed for victory whenever some pretext, however slight, bobs up.

As of Wednesday, thousands of war plant workers around the country were on strike. Some strikers had gone back to their jobs. These included 3000 men at the New York Shipbuilding Corporation plant in Camden, who had struck against a wage ruling by the War Labor Board. Several thousand others at Charleston, W. Va., Cleveland and elsewhere also had called off their walkouts.

But 16,500 workers were still on strike at the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company in Akron. Other thousands were idle at the Detroit plants of Graham-Paige, Dodge, American Metal and Gorham Tool. These represented only a few of the major work stoppages. There were many others, not merely in war-related industries but in primary war plants whose constant peak output is essential to early victory in the Pacific.

Even if each of these war plant strikes lasted only a few hours or a few days, it would rank as a shameful betrayal of our fighting men. But the Firestone rubber strike is now in its second week—at a time when America needs more and more rubber accessories for airplanes in order to pound the Japs into surrender. The Goodyear strike lasted 20 days, with an estimated loss—to mention only one item—of more than 300,000 airplane tires.

Furthermore, as The New York Times points out, the number of men on strike at a particular plant is not a sound measurement of the damage done to the war effort by that walkout. Often a few strikers in one department can slow up, or even bring to a standstill, an entire plant's production.

It is a reassuring fact that the vast majority of war workers are sticking to their jobs. If they weren't, we would not have the war output we have. But it is also a fact that recurring strikes in many war industries are a tragic pullback on the Army and Navy.

These war plant strikes, encouraged and promoted by the blundering Smith-Connally Act, are an outrage against our fighting men and a disgrace to the Nation.

The boys out there in the Pacific must not be let down. Give them the tools they need. It is up to Congress to see to it that strikes in war industries are outlawed for the duration.

A little more than two months ago President Truman, in his V-E Day message to the country, said: "If I could give you a single watchword for the coming months, that word is—work, work, work."

The watchword still is: Work!—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Two Terms Enough

If the nation is ever going to limit the number of terms a President of the United States may have, this is the time to do it. As Congressman Joseph W. Martin Jr., Republican leader of the House, correctly says, this reform can be considered now as a thoroughly non-partisan move, as it will have no immediate effect on the political program of either major party or on the political fortunes of any individual.

There is additional good reason for action now. Congress is slowly being returned to its old position as one of the three branches of government. Clearly this movement would be hastened and reinforced if matters could be arranged so that no future executive, through long tenure of office, would be able to dominate either the legislative or judicial departments.

Most Americans do not subscribe to the theory that any man is indispensable or that only one man is fitted to be president of the United States. On the contrary, their attitude—despite some recent election results—is rather that of Thomas Jefferson and George Washington, both of whom earnestly inveighed against more than two terms for a president and, what is more, practiced what they preached. Andrew Jackson recommended that a limit of one term be imposed.

For many years, the two-term tradition served as a bulwark against totalitarianism in this country and against government by bureaucracy. It helped to keep America free. There should be no delay in proceedings looking toward the adoption of a Constitutional amendment often urged by leaders of both political parties and now sponsored by Congressman Martin.

Depriving Japs Of Oil

Japan is heading toward a situation similar to that in which Germany was plunged in the last months of the war in Europe. Nazi planes and power vehicles were idle on the ground for lack of motor fuel. Japanese machines of war will be idle for a similar reason when the current phase of the American air attack is concluded.

American bombers are destroying refineries and synthetic plants all over the Japanese empire, including conquered territory. An alcohol plant on Formosa which could produce synthetic gasoline was not overlooked. The British long since chased the Japs away from Burma oil, and the Australians are currently depriving them of their Borneo petroleum.

American forces are apparently about to cut the sea lane between Japan and Sakhalin Island, another source of enemy oil supply. And with refineries and stored supplies flaming in all parts of the Japanese islands and Manchuria, it is clear that the enemy will be bereft of that sinew of war which next to food has become most indispensable in modern conflict.

In the final phase of war in the Pacific the Japs will be forced to take to their caves. Without fuel to drive their planes, tanks, mobile artillery and trucks, they will be unable to defend themselves in a war of movement such as American armies will inaugurate.

It isn't necessary to speculate any further on whether the first chicken came from the first egg, or the first egg came from the first chicken. Nowadays neither comes from any place.

WASHINGTON CALLING

by MARQUIS CHILDS

Pacific War Will Be Topic For Big Three

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Meeting in the ruins of ruined Europe, the Big Three and their military chieftains will have plenty to talk about if they begin to settle the problems that seem to spring up everywhere out of the chaos war has left in its wake.

But they will also have to consider the war still to be won in the Pacific. Too many questions have gone unanswered for too long. Too many uncertainties cast doubt on the shape the Pacific war will take in its final phase.

Marshal Stalin may decide to go for a walk while the Pacific is under discussion. Russia is still at peace with Japan, or, it is possible that all Pacific discussion may be postponed for a conference in London to follow the Berlin meeting.

Will Seek Clarification

Sooner or later, however, before President Truman comes home, an effort will be made to clarify the shape of things to come in the Far Pacific. First and foremost is the question of Britain's role in the war against Japan, and then, directly related to this, is a tough one: Will American troops be used in the mop-up phase to retake the colonial possessions of the British, Dutch and French?

Strange as it may seem, there has been no clarification of the role of the two partners who fought side by side in western Europe. That has been left in a kind of gray zone of uncertainty while American fighting strength in the Far East grew to incredible proportions.

At the first opportunity, Britain wanted to have her own fleet in the Pacific. That desire, it is true, caused some resentment in our Navy. But this had nothing to do with any emotion as simple as jealousy.

Explanation

The explanation lay in one word—supply. The British said they could supply their own fleet, but our naval commanders had their fingers crossed on that. They felt they would have more than enough to do if they supplied our own mushrooming forces in the Pacific. While from time to time the British have called on us for help, they are now becoming self-sustaining.

More important was the question of where the British were to operate with their fleet. That will be decided, it is hoped, during the coming month.

A plan has been worked up here for a complete revision of command in the Pacific. Under this proposal, the command in the southwest would go to the British. It is now part of General MacArthur's vast domain. The line would fall just north of Indo-China and just south of the Philippines.

To Retake Colonies

Within this new command, as a glance at the map makes clear, are virtually all the colonies of the European powers still occupied by the Jap. It would be the task of the British command to retake those colonies.

Our own joint chiefs of staff are reported to have put their okay on that plan. The details, as carefully worked out by staff planners, are being taken in sealed and carefully guarded brief cases to the Berlin meeting. What is more, President Truman is believed, tentatively at least, to have agreed to the change.

Most of America's mounting strength on the other side of the world will be pointed up to the all-out assault on Japan. Presumably, that will be almost entirely an American show. The casualties are certain to be heavy; heavier, probably, than even at Iwo Jima or Okinawa.

To Be Long And Costly

The cleanup of the home islands is certain to be prolonged and costly. Likewise, occupation of Japan proper will present grave difficulties.

While no one ventures to talk in terms of exactly how long this will take, it cannot come in the near future. An assault on Japan will require at least twice the strength we mustered against Hitler's Europe on D-Day.

There is no reason, of course, why the British with their forces should not move in to Malaya or Java before the main attack comes. At the present moment, Australian troops are consolidating their conquest of Borneo and the rich oil resources of Balikpapan. Borneo may set the pattern for future operations in the British command.

We will all benefit from clearer definitions, in the vast theater of the Pacific. Too much has been left to chance. The clamor for definition of unconditional surrender reflects the uncertainty many people feel over the direction of the war against Japan. We will all hope that those definitions come out of the momentous meetings soon to be held.

PROTEIN AND LIME

Children and young people need lots of protein and lime. Another name for lime is calcium.

Protein and calcium are needed for growth. Muscles and bones and teeth need plenty of material.

Milk and cheese provide both calcium and protein in an easily digestiele form.

A quart of milk every day is not too much for a youngster. It may be used as a drink or in combination with other food.

Pasteurized milk is the safest.

Good teeth and strong bones depend on the calcium in the food.

Every growing boy or girl should have plenty of milk every day.

Gasoline can be made from potatoes. Now if the scientist could find a way to make meat from gasoline.

The idea was debate at some length and several suggestions were made, none of which seemed appropriate until one member arose unsteadily and said impressively: "I move that we accept the following motto . . .

'May this fire engine be like all the old maids in our village—always ready, but never called for.'"

Let great Eisenhower enjoy his fame while he can. His job in Germany is apt to invite brickbats within a year.

How long to finish the Japs? How long would it take to dig out all the gophers in California, if they were deadly?

Wisdom is the realization, usually too late, that you were wrong in the conflicts for which you have long blamed others.

The wounded greatly outnumber the dead, yet we see no wounded Japs or Germans. You can guess the answer.

A man can forgive his friends almost anything except asking him to quit doing something that he knows is wrong.

"My only interest in this war," said a little business man, "is to make all I can out of it." He pays for that attitude; taxes make him sick.

Many people think we should keep part of Germany because we won it. Can't you lick a man without adopting his brats and assuming his burdens?

IN LOVE WITH TWO BOYS

"I am in love with two boys—one with whom I have been corresponding since he went overseas eight months ago. The other is in the service but stationed nearby. Both are in love with me. The one overseas has asked me to marry him when he returns; the other wants me to marry him in the fall. I am confused and do not wish to hurt either one. Please tell me what to do. I am 21 years old."

Answer: Since you cannot marry two boys, you will have to choose between them or give both up. It is very unfair of you to encourage both of them to the point of marriage. And it is not possible to love two men at the same time. Usually, when a woman feels that way about two men, she really loves neither. If you could go away for awhile, forego writing to the boy who is overseas and not see the one who is here and view the entire matter in perspective, you might be able to quiet your present emotional confusion and discover just how you truly feel about each one.

If you have already committed yourself to either one or both, you should be honest enough to tell the rejected one of your mistake that he may cease wasting his time on you and turn his thoughts elsewhere.

If, after sufficient cogitation, you don't feel overwhelming love for one more than the other, you should plainly state your case to both and let them make up their minds, telling them that you will continue your friendship. Do not, in your present confused state, promise to marry either. Tell them both you are not yet ready for that serious decision, if you cannot make up your mind.

Question: When an engaged girl has no parents, is it all right for the groom's family to announce their impending marriage?

Answer: If the bride-to-be has no parents, her nearest relative should assume this responsibility. The announcement should not come from the man's family.

Present your problems to Miss Markel who will mail personal replies to questions from readers inclosing stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Economy Proponents Are Now Encouraged

Washington, July 12.

THOUGH the Government expenditures, aside from war, were never at such a crazy peak, and though Washington is today an appalling jungle of overlapping agencies, many of them absurdly unnecessary and the rest needing co-ordination and reduction, it is true that at no time since 1933 have the proponents of economy and the enemies of waste been so greatly encouraged.

THE REASON is the change in Presidents. Mr. Roosevelt, who never had to work for a living and whose money came the easy way, was the leader of the new spending school. He had completely discarded his 1932 fears of deficit financing and his belief in the balanced budget, acquiring in their place tolerance for the group of economic thinkers who evolved the extraordinary theory that the size of the national debt is of no importance as "we owe it to ourselves." His successor, Mr. Truman, distinctly does not subscribe to these ideas.

IT IS TRTUE that as a senator he supported Roosevelt measures and policies with his vote. That was to be expected of the kind of organization Democrat Mr. Truman is. He believes firmly in following the leader. But those who know him best unequivocally assert that he is not of the spending school. He got what money he has (which isn't very much) the hard way, and he has a keen idea of the value of a dollar and the soundness (for a nation as well as an individual) of not living beyond your means. He is, his friends say, no penny pincher, but he has an orderly mind. Waste and inefficiency in the public service are distasteful to him, and as a senator he was critical of both.

IN BRIEF, he is unable to lose himself in the Utopian dreams of those advanced New Dealers who formed the Roosevelt "inner circle." This does not mean that Mr. Truman puts "property rights above human rights," which is the charge the left-wing spenders always level at anyone who calls a halt on reckless pouring out of public funds. It does mean that he recognizes human rights are inseparably linked with property rights. Though he has been President less than three months, Mr. Truman has given such evidences of his feelings along these lines as to hold out a good deal of hope.

CHIEF of these is his request of Congress to give him a free hand in reorganizing the executive departments. He explained that he wants to streamline the whole business from top to bottom and that this is the only way in which it can be done. Congress probably will not act until it comes back in September, which is a pity. It should not be delayed. Mr. Roosevelt, it is true, did some reorganizing under a law passed before the war, but it was ineffectual, inadequate and its benefits have long ago been washed out in the deluge of new agencies.

ANOTHER evidence of the Truman tendency was his order requiring all but six Federal agencies to re-

JAPANESE FATALISTS

"East is east and west is west." Kipling undertook to tell us that the twain do meet when two strong men from the ends of the earth come together in spirit of mutual understanding and appreciation.

But the motivation and spirit of the Japanese "kamizake" is remote from the concepts of the normal occidental. We have our own sacrificial heroes, perhaps more than any western nation, men who willing die to advance a sacred cause or to save the lives of their fellows. But the mass sacrifices of "kamizake" in which Japanese flyers make themselves an integral part of destructive bombs and torpedoes, is not quite understandable to the American mind, even if it were permissible under our ideas of military duty.

The basic philosophy of the kamizake, of course, is religion. Hara-kiri is more or less a moral or social code, an atonement by the victim for his failure in his appointed task. But the immolation of the "kamizake" is inspirational. Its votaries are sustained and fortified by a conviction that the sacrifice opens the way to immediate heaven as their reward.

Courageous and unselfish as this type of sacrifice may be, there remains in it something repugnant to western standards. It smacks in a sense of the spirit of Samson in pulling down the temple to destroy others in his exit from life. There is involved in the "kamizake" sacrifice an element of unfairness and foolhardiness which lacks appeal to the practical and judicial western mind.

The fact that the Japanese government has invoked the "kamizake" on a wholesale plan as a last desperate measure of defense not only indicate the hopelessness of the war situation to Japanese leaders, but is a token of the probability that the only hope of unconditional surrender lies in the annihilation of the Japanese fighters.

Navy Brass Hats Fret Over Overconfidence
Fear Public Ready To Cut Down Our Fleet
May Eliminate Entire German General Staff

By HELEN ESSARY
(Central Press Columnist)

WASHINGTON, July 13.—One thing that is worrying Navy brass hats is that the Amerian public will begin to feel we no longer need a gigantic fleet now that the Japanese navy has been virtually wiped out.

The Navy fears that the same thing will hapen that occurred after World War I when Navy appropriations were cut to the bone.

That, undobtedly, was behind the recent press conference held by Secretary of the Navy James Forrestal at which he had one battleship admiral, a carrier admiral and a high-ranking admiral from Pacific fleet headquarters explain the big job that still lies ahead for the Navy.

Army officers and fighting men agree with the Navy on two counts: (1) that battleships are mighty comforting things to have around when they invade an island; (2) that there is nothing like Navy dive-bombing planes to take out bothersome enemy gun positions.

Eliminate German Militarists

Army Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's contention that the German general staff should be completely eliminated is likely to be translated into concrete action as Allied occupation of the Reich progresses.

As American member of the Allied Control Council, Eisenhower will be in a position to put forward his views and, as things shape up now, there will be no one opposed to them.

Principal American foreign affairs specialists endorse the general's views and Sumner Welles, former undersecretary of state, long has agitated to the same end.

Russia also is ready for the elimination of the German militarists and every one of Germany's neighbors—even those that peacefully got along with Germany most of the time—now are anxious to stamp out the Prussian strain. Polish acquisition of East Prussia is a step in that direction.

An indication of the overwhelming public sentiment behind the Breton Woods monetary agreements was uncovered by the House Banking and Currence committee.

During hearings by that group, petitions, letters and postcards poured in by the thousands.

When the communications were counted it was found that approximately 50,000 had been received favoring ratification by Congress of the Bretton Woods agreement, while less than 50 opposed it.

Anderson on Spot

Clinton P. Anderson, new secretary of agriculture, is keenly interested in agricultural economics, in any new by-products which will build up agriculture.

Reporters who met with the cabinet officer on his first ultra-busy day in office were surprised to find him looking over a carton of chewing gum. He explained that it was a new agricultural by-product.

The former congressman laughingly denied that it was made from synthetic rubber.

Veteran Senate newsmen disagree with Majority Leader Alben Barkley's estimate that there will not be more than a half dozen votes in the Senate against ratification of the United Nations charter.

Many of the reporters believe that there will not be a single "no" vote registered. Pressure of public opinion is so great, they explain, that senators who don't want to vote "aye" either will absent themselves or merely vote "present."

Secretary of Agriculture Anderson is in the spot of a man asked to "put up or shut up." He vigorously criticized the nation's food policies as chairman of the House food committee, but now finds himself running the show.

This explains the House rampage that altered the OPA extension bill to make Anderson food czar (later canceled.)

LITTLE BOY'S HAIR

Seemed my mother's constant care
Was my tousled head of hair.
I'd a forelock hanging down
And a cowlick on the crown.
Far too much for brush and comb
Was the thatch upon my dome.
In a most pathetic way
"Such a head of hair!" she'd say.

All the barber's skillful art
Couldn't shape a lasting part.
Oft my father chuckled: "That Sort of hair would make a mat!"
All the barber's scented dope
With that cowlick couldn't cope.
Working on it till he'd tire,
This he'd say: "Your hair is wire."

Now the grandson, just past six,
Has a head that none can fix.
Howsoe'er they wet it down,
Still that stubborn mass of brown,
Scornful of devoted care,
Stays a moplike head of hair.
Like his grandpa's (sad but true!)
It will be his lifetime through.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

The Church of England will spend a million dollars on a publicity campaign.

The money is to be used for "the conversion of the multitudes in every section of society, who believe in nothing, who have lost the spiritual dimension of life and for whom life has no ultimate meaning."

Religion, to be at all effective, in my opinion, should be an integral part of life itself.

It should need publicity no more than food or drink or love.

Faith should be as natural a human function as breathing.

The love of God should be as instinctive as a mother's love of her children or a husband's love for his wife.

The other day a clergyman said in his sermon:

"More real rest can be gained from an hour and a quarter of worship than by eighteen holes of golf."

Why induce people to go to church for a rest?

Religion is not meant to put you to sleep.

It is meant to be a stimulus, a tonic, an incentive.

Religion should be joyous, not solemn or mournful.

Make your church service a dirge and you will have an empty church.

I myself would go to church much oftener if there were more of the joy of my garden in my church.

To me my flowers and my trees and my birds are God's gifts to me to make me admire and worship His wonders and the miracles He has performed for me and for all human beings to enjoy.

If there were as much sunshine and color and spontaneity in the church as there is in nature there would be fuller churches and the relief of the poor and the healing of the sick.

If people have lost the desire to go to church, if they are too tired to attend, if they prefer Sunday golf to the Sunday service, that surely is not God's fault or religion's fault, but the fault of the men who represent God and religion.

Churches are empty only where the pastors' hearts are empty.

Show me a well-attended church and I'll show you a real man of God.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

SUMMER CHECK-UP IN HEALTH

The local PTA has, as a part of the fine program of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers conducted in many communities throughout the nation each spring a summer round-up program. Thereby it induces most of the parents of the children who will enter the first grade in September to bring these children to school on a certain date where the school nurse and school doctor (be there one), or volunteer doctors and dentists, join in physical examination of these children.

Pronounced physical defects, such as decayed teeth, impaired vision, adenoids and diseased tonsils are observed and the parents advised to have such corrected during the summer by the family doctor and dentist. Wise parents follow this advice in order to make sure the child, on entering school in September, is not handicapped by remedial physical defects.

Medical Checkup

Parents whose local community has not had such a program should have their children who will enter the first grade next September checked by their own doctor and dentist. Most parents of older children, too, even of high school age, would do well to have right away a physical check of these youngsters so that such remedial corrections as are necessary may be made long before school reopens in the fall.

Discerning parents of the child who will enter the first grade in September should consider now his social, emotional and mental preparation. He may not have learned to play normally with other children of his age, so very necessary for success at school. Let his parents spend time and effort at socializing him. The youngster needs to be with other children near his age. If no such playmates are in the block, some children farther away may, with the approval of their parents, be attracted to your home or you might go with him a few times a week to their homes.

Attendance at Sunday school and vacation church school also offers large possibilities. Too, several par-

This correspondent saw the Bennington after she weathered a terrific typhoon last June 5—the forward flight deck was smashed and battered down about her bow, like dog-eared bookleaves, by the crushing weight of angry water.

Now she is as trim a fighting ship as ever left a builder's ways—without ever leaving the western Pacific; in less time, in fact, than it could have made even a one-way trip to the west coast's already-crowded repair yards.

The herculean task of slashing away nearly 30 feet of her flight deck, of fabricating and installing a new deck in its place was accomplished in less than two weeks by "Parseron Ten". This unit is commanded by 60-year-old Commodore Worrall R. Carter of Norfolk, Va., and Yarmouth, Me.

The task was accomplished without ever bringing the Bennington to pier or drydock.

In direct charge was Lieut. Comm. Virgil A. Cowart of San Pedro, Calif.

Work on Ship's Deck

While the first workmen drawn from various "Parseron Ten" ships began cutting away 40 tons of the wrecked sections, dropping them in the water, Cowart broke down the needed new construction and began prefabricating the sections aboard his own ship as well as right on the Bennington's own hangar deck.

The biggest of these sections were three units making up the rounded ramp, or leading edge of the flight deck. Each of these was 33 feet long, 12 square feet in a cross section, and weighing over three tons—"the biggest fabrication job ever done at sea," Cowart said.

Within a few days, a five-ton crane on the flight deck was swinging these sections into place, holding them while welders "basted" them on with temporary welds.

Among the workers who cut away the wrecked sections were Chief Shipfitter F. Zarko of Pittsburgh; and shipfitter 1-c L. H. Huffsmith of Erie, Pa.

Permanent welds joined the sections which have no underneath support and the temporary welds were chipped away. Carpenters then took over laying the flight deck over the steel—and 12 hours before Halsey had been promised his ship he got it.

Land Army Camp Buildings And Site Attractive

Women's Land Army Group From Here Located At Camp On New England Lake

Girls of the Women's Land Army who went from here to Lake Congamond, at Southwick, Mass., as volunteers to work in Connecticut in connection with the agricultural extension program found very pleasant living quarters awaiting them on their arrival, according to word from one of the group. Sixty-five New Castle girls made the trip for the summer work program.

Camp Berkshire, which is the headquarters, fronts on the lake (or pond as it is called up there), and consists of one large main building with a large screened porch across the front, an office, a dining room, and extremely complete and newly equipped kitchen downstairs, and dormitory upstairs for 32 girls and two counselors, also six cabins, each 22 by 40 feet, with a bathroom in each, and many electric outlets. Bedding is all brand new and each bed has two new Esmond blankets. These are welcome as the nights are cool.

The camp site is level with birch trees in front facing toward the lake. Steps lead down to the beach and dock about 35 feet below the level of the camp building. On the 'pond' are many boats, including sailboats, motorboats, canoes, rowboats, even an occasional seaplane. Across the lake is a resort.

Girls will be divided into four work groups supervised by Miss Martha Hanna, Miss Nettie Mann, Miss Tillie Solomon, and Miss Reva Love, who accompanied them from here.

Miss Elizabeth Morrow is director-supervisor, Miss Helen Wilson, nurse, Mrs. Paul Hoagland, dietician and Miss Laura Cowmeadow, recreation director.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

duce their work week from 48 to 44 hours, and directing the six exempted from the order to reduce as fast and as much as possible. It is estimated that this reduction will save approximately $200,000,000 a year and thus offset the rise in Federal pay recently granted by Congress. In making this reduction, President Truman adopted a suggestion made by Senator Harry F. Byrd, who for twelve years has led the fight against governmental waste. What is encouraging is the difference in the Truman attitude toward Senator Byrd and that of Mr. Roosevelt. The latter took Mr. Byrd's attacks on Administration waste as personal to such a degree that nothing Mr. Byrd recommended stood a chance of his approval.

THE RELATIONS between Mr. Truman and Senator Byrd are excellent, which is an exceedingly hopeful sign, it being pretty well conceded that no real retrenchment in government can be effective without full presidential leadership and support. In addition, several other things help make the prospect for a return to financial stability bright. One is that, with the war over, continued high taxes are sure to increase popular sentiment against waste. Another is the threat of a disastrous inflation involved in uncontrolled appropriations and uncurtailed expenditures. Finally, there is the fact that the President's closest friends and advisers—including Secretary of State Byrnes—believe in regaining control of the Federal finances.

IN THIS connection it is interesting to note that the most reckless spender of the Roosevelt circle has severed his connection with the White House—Mr. Harry Hopkins. A great deal has been written in praise of Mr. Hopkins' diplomatic achievements, which it is impossible to check up and about which there are two views. However, as head of the Work Progress Administration of the early Roosevelt administrations, Mr. Hopkins spent many more millions than any public official in all peacetime history. And there is no question that he was the author of that justly famous—and prophetic—remark: "We are going to tax, tax, tax, spend, spend, spend, elect, elect and elect." Considering these things, his departure cannot be said to diminish the chances of recovering our financial equilibruim.

U. C. T. WILL MEET SATURDAY NIGHT

United Commercial Travelers membership will hold their regular July assembly on Saturday evening at 8 o'clock, in lodge headquarters in the Cathedral building.

At this session W. J. Whiting, of California, who is visiting in New Castle, will speak informally to the group.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

ents might contrive to cooperate in a play school for their children during the summer.

The more the tot plays with other children the less, as a rule, is he tied to his mother emotionally. (You know the problems of the child entering school who cries after his mother.) Also the more he can look after himelf and amuse himself, the better he will be prepared for school. All suggestions about school should picture it as hopefully attractive to the child.

An adult or an older child should read daily to this tot. No better way to cultivate in him good habits of concentration and readiness to "listen" profitably at school. At play, this child might also profit from gaining acquaintance with a few letters of the alphabet, though he should not learn them in order until a few years later. In many a school some familiarity with numbers up to ten might be helpful. Since in many schools children in the first grade draw and color, the tot should have experience before school at such creative fun. Moreover, this child needs to have learned respect for the rights and possessions of others and due regard for constituted authority, before he enters school.

RED CROSS NEEDS TYPISTS, STENOGS

Senate Asks For Explanation Of Highway Project

By FRANK B. ALLEN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Gen. Dwight Eisenhower opposed the war-time construction of the Pan-American highway, it was disclosed today.

Eisenhower, then a major general and deputy chief of staff of the army, wrote a memorandum recommending the project only as a long-range future program.

This disclosure was made as the senate war investigating committee called on Lt. Gen. Eugene Reybold, chief of the army engineers, and other officers for an explanation of the decision to build the highway.

Placed in the record was a copy of Eisenhower's memorandum recommending the project for future construction "in the interests of continental solidarity and long-range military necessity."

"Zero Priority"

It was disclosed also that the 900-mile road building job—on which Sen. Robertson (R) Wyo., charged there was vast waste in equipment rentals—was so slightly considered by the army that it had "a zero priority" for materials.

Gen. Reybold pointed to the depredations by German submarines in the spring of 1942, and the Japanese threat in the Pacific as having resulted in the order to go ahead and fill in the 900 miles of gaps in the overland route to the Canal Zone on July 4, 1942.

The preceding months, he said, German submarines reached their peak of activity in the Caribbean, sinking 383,000 tons of shipping.

"If we knew the facts then that we know today the highway work would not have been undertaken," Reybold told the committee.

"But if the Japanese had not been stopped and if the submarines had continued unabated the war department would not have been forgiven for not building it," he declared.

Maxey, of the State Supreme Court, has been mentioned in Capitol Hill political circles as a potential candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination next year... Some sources, however, report that the 67-year-old jurist who resides at Scranton, is not interested in the nomination. ...A faction, led by Judge Maxey, has split with another Republican group at Scranton led by Mrs. Worthington Scranton, GOP national committeewoman... Observers predict that the jurist would be a hard man for the Democrats to defeat... He was born in Forest City and attended Mansfield State Teachers' College and Michigan and Pennsylvania universities... Elected to the bench in November, 1930, his term will end in January, 1952... He became Chief Justice in 1943.

The names of 35 educators, philanthropists and statesmen who rendered outstanding service to education in Pennsylvania are carved in granite below the cornice of the of the State Education Building, one of the newer structures of the State Capitol group... Included in the names are those of Edgar Fahs Smith and Andrew Carnegie... The structure was erected in 1939... In addition to the office space provided, one of the building's most striking features is the forum, a semi-circular auditorium seating 1,833 persons... Around the walls are maps and tables depicting the growth and development of civilization, the path of man's progress through time, both in the western and oriental worlds.

Gov. Edward Martin has reported that the total cost of six of the seven major wars in which the United States participated was $29,000,000,000... The total cost of World War II was undetermined... In a pamphlet prepared for the use of fellow chief executives at the annual governor's conference at Mackinac Island, Governor Martin explained that the cost of conflicts in which the U. S. participated ranged from $97,705,860 for the Mexican war to $22,000,000,000 for World War I.

The Revolutionary War, in which 309,791 soldiers were engaged in battle, cost America $370,000,000"... In the War of 1812, the United States spent $112,912,543, he said... Negro Hero Loses Ribbon; Finds It On Chest Of Son

PITTSBURGH, July 13.—(INS)—Cpl. Woodall Iris Marsh, Negro Pittsburgh soldier hero, couldn't find his silver star ribbon, awarded him for saving the lives of 12 white men in Italy in 1943.

He loked all through the house, but nowhere could he find the little strip of cloth which marked him as a hero among heroes.

When he did find the small bar, it was on the chest of his 13-year-old son, Woodall Iris Marsh, Jr., who was proudly swaggering before scores of his friends and boasting of his father—as boys will do.

"GET OUT", SAYS JUDGE TO ROOMER AND HUSBAND TOO

PITTSBURGH, July 13.—(INS)—A situation described as a "triangle" by Judge William H. McNaugher was ended today by the court ordering Angelo Flex, 42, of Pittsburgh, to move "from under the same roof as the Renzies."

Flex had been living with Mr. and Mrs. Alfonso Renzie. In fact, he slept in the same bed as Renzie. The situation came to a head when Mrs. Renzie filed suit for divorce.

The proceeding before Judge McNaugher, however, was because the two men charged each other with surety of the peace. Mrs. Renzie owns the house in the affair.

"If you can't get along with your wife, you'll have to move out too," the court also told Renzie.

Fliers Polish Up 'Jap-Killing' At Fallan Navy Base

Navy Men Gain Deadly Efficiency At Nevada 'Finishing School'

By BRIAN STORM
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

FALLON NAVY AIR BASE, FALLON, Nev., July 13—If the Jap could see what's going on today on this sun-parched Nevada desert they'd quit tomorrow.

Leave Only Twisted Steel

Scores of fast fighters and fighter-bombers, turning their slim tails into the blue sky and then diving vertically at the ground, daily turn target areas into a churned mess of twisted steel and earth with flaming rockets, bombers and tracer bullets.

In addition, over a nearby mountain lake, swift bombers lugging torpedoes swoop within a few feet of the still water and loose their deadly practice missiles at the target.

The Fallow base might be termed a finishing school for navy carrier pilots, for here different air groups, on their way to the skies over Tokyo, receive the final touches of the lethal efficiency that has rolled the tide of naval war right into Tokyo bay itself.

Desert Flattop

New pilots practice carrier landings on a mock flattop on the flat desert floor, and practice dive-bombing on armored jeeps that are driven around under conditions simulating an enemy vehicle desperately trying to escape.

Other fliers, who have got in several licks against the best the Mikado could put into the air, also come in for a refresher course in the latest proved method of killing Japs.

These experienced men take the new boys in hand and show them all the ropes. They live, play and fly together and after several weeks of this arduous training, the new air group is a tight, well-oiled machine, and goes to an advanced coastal base for actual over-water training.

Commander Loves Flying

The Fallon base, some 70 miles form Reno, is the largest auxiliary naval air base in the country, and is under the overall command of Comdr. M. E. Selby, a genial regular navy man who loves flying and watches after "my boys" like a strict mother hen over a bunch of chicks.

The base itself occupies an area of four square miles in the desert bowl between two mountain ranges. It gets hot there sometimes, "but definitely" as Selby commented. However, it is ideally situated for its purpose as flying is possible all year around.

Speed and thoroughness of the training program is pointed up by the fact that in June, some 170 planes made 21,000 landings on the runways and put in 12,600 hours in the air.

The most important sector of the base, however, is the target range eight air miles from the administration building.

William G. Fleming Is Badly Injured

Former Manager Of City Golf Course Sustains Burns In Blast On Ship In California

Word was received by Earl R. Thompson, of Edison avenue, in a letter from his son, Lawrence, who is located at Van Nuys, Calif., telling of serious injuries received by his brother-in-law, William G. Fleming of Santa Ana, Calif., former manager of the Sylvan Heights golf course, last Saturday.

Mr. Fleming, who went to the Pacific Coast a few years ago, was employed in a shipyard at Wilmington, Calif., a suburb of Long Beach, and was engaged in making tests on newly built ships. He, with a group of other men, was in the engine of the ship undergoing its test, when oil vapor exploded, enveloping the men. The force of the explosion jammed the door of the engine room, and they had to break out a panel to get out. Mr. Fleming suffered burns of the hands, arms and head, and while suffering from shock, is not believed to be in a critical condition, Mr. Thompson stated in the letter.

Mr. Fleming is a veteran of World War One, and past commander of Perry S. Gaston Post, American Legion.

Barkley Declares Peace Move Is Up To Japan Entirely

WASHINGTON, July 13—(INS)—Senate Majority Leader Alben Barkley, Ky., declared Thursday that Japan must take the initiative in making peace with the United States and her allies.

He emphatically opposed a suggestion made by Sen. Homer Capehart (R) Ind., in a senate speech, that the United States define "unconditional surrender" by stating minimum terms of peace to Japan.

"It seems to me that if the United States or her allies take the initiative and Japan refused, the United States and her allies would be left in a ridiculous and indefensible position," said Barkley.

"If Japan would come forward and ask us, we can state them, and no doubt the United States and her allies would be ready to meet that position. Japan must ultimately sue for terms."

The citation states that his service with the intelligence section and excellent performance of duty contributed materially to the fine record of his unit. He exhibited the highest courage, initiative and discipline during the long period of combat duty, reflecting credit on himself and the American forces.

Seventy-Seven Vets Find Jobs In June

Total Placements, Including Veterans, Show 268 Increase Over June 1944

Seventy-seven veterans were placed in jobs by the local office of the United States Employment Service, George R. Gettings, manager of the office, said today.

Most of these went into defense plants and the remainder went into sales jobs and transportation. Fifty-one veterans had been placed in May.

Altogether, 1106 persons were placed during June, an increase of 268 over placements in June, 1944, Mr. Gettings pointed out. Since the first of January, 6,591 persons have been placed, whereas the total for the first six months of 1944 was 4,215.

New Castle Flier Bombed Japs With Empty Beer Bottles

(Special To The News)

MARINE CORPS AIR DEPOT, Miramar, Calif., July 12—Fliers of the Marine Corps group that dropped empty beer bottles on the Japs weren't just expressing contempt for their slant-eyed enemies; they were engaged in night nuisance raids designed to keep the Japs awake. Empty beer bottles make a whistling sound similar to bombs when they fall, and can cause just as much anxiety when they are on their way down.

Among these fliers was First Lt Thomas V. Evans, 26-year-old Mitchell bomber pilot who is now back in the country after 72 missions in the Bismarck Archipelago. Evans took part in raids against Rabaul, Kavieng, and Bougainville, and supported ground forces mopping up the by-passed island of New Britain. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Evans of New Castle, Pa.

Senate To Probe Charges Of Waste

Senator Charges Vast Amounts Wasted In Equipment Rentals On Project

WASHINGTON, July 13.—(INS)—The Senate War Investigating committee prepared today to probe charges that the Army had wasted vast amounts of money in equipment rentals for construction work on the Pan-American highway project.

The committee also planned to ask the Army at today's hearing why it undertook the project, which links the United States with Panama, and to explain its selection of the route.

Chairman Mead (D) N. Y., said the series of hearings will lead into the charges by Sen. Robertson (R) Wyo., that the Army engineers permitted "fantastic arrangements" by which a $3,500 five-ton truck would pay for itself at a $500 a month rental every seven months even if it stood idle.

Robertson charged, on the basis of figures compiled by News Commentator Fulton Lewis Jr. that contractors on the Pan-American project run their profits up to 40 per cent of the costs instead of the supposed 4 per cent through renting their own equipment to the government.

"The prices charged the government and paid for by authority of Army engineers are fantastic almost beyond description," Robertson charged.

A tractor worth $8,600 rents to the government at $775 a month—with overtime if it is used more than 240 hours a month—and thus pays for itself in rentals every 11 months, the Wyoming senator asserted.

Mead said that audits on the profits contractors made on the Pan-American job are underway, but that opening hearings will deal with the decision to build the highway, which links the United States by land with the Panama Canal Zone, and with the choice of the route.

Bonds Bought By Servicemen Put Pittsburgh 'Over'

PITTSBURGH, July 13.—America's fighting men and women have come through once again for the folks on the home front.

Final figures for the Seventh War Loan drive today showed that purchases of bonds by service men and women, made through payroll deductions and credited to their home districts, put the Fort Pitt area over the top in every department.

More than $4,400,000 of such purchases were credited to the counties in the area. Final figures for the area totaled $101,313,000—or 103.1 per cent of the quota of "E" bonds.

In the purchase of all types of bonds, the area bought $200,549,000—or 127.1 per cent of quota.

"The fact that the final boost needed, to put both totals over their goal, came from the service men and women themselves is the crowning touch—for it carries a lesson to all of us," pointed out Robert H. McClintic, state vice-chairman of the war finance committee. He declared the campaign "a complete success."

Dean Park Show Brings Many Pets

Ants entered in the Dean Park pet show Thursday afternoon were turned down, although the variety of animals on exhibition ranged from guinea pigs to gold fish.

Decisions of the judges, Mrs. Robert Burnsides and Mrs. Jack Llewellyn, were: prettiest pet, a 22-pound rabbit owned by Rodaly Rush; smallest, a chameleon owned by Charles McVay; youngest, a one-week-old puppy owned by Richard Angelne; oldest, a collie belonging to Frank Patterson.

The most unusual pet was Betty, a goat, whose keepers were Louis Nocera and Ralph Pissano, and the smartest pet was a dog owned by Tommy Murphy. Supervisor of the playground exhibition was Miss Jeanne Wallace.

Shenango Firemen Check Two Fires In Past Two Days

Two fires on successive days in Shenango township have brought a warning from Fire Chief Edward Dean of the Shenango volunteer fire department that persons starting fires in this dry weather will be held responsible for damages to other people's property in case the fire spreads.

Almost a ton of hay was destroyed on the Howard Brandon farm on the Boyd schoolhouse road Thursday afternoon, when a grass fire swept over from neighboring property. Shenango firemen checked the fire and prevented further damage.

The department was also called out on Wednesday when a chicken coop on the Louis Ross property at Gardner burned down. None of the chickens were lost, and other farm buildings were saved. In both cases, the property was covered by insurance.

Inland waterways of the United States carried petroleum and products for 1944 averaging 1,475,030 barrels a day on rivers, canals, etc.

Postwar Warnings Given By Babson On Business

By ROGER W. BABSON
(Copyright, 1945, Publishers Financial Bureau Inc.)

BABSON PARK, Mass., July 13.—Too many returning service men want to go into business for themselves. This is a good sign of initiative, independence and enterprise; but let me warn such that starting a business of one's own is a serious and risky matter. Better buy into a going business—if possible one in which one's family is now engaged.

BABSON

Pioneering Very Difficult

Pioneering is profitable when it succeeds, but such success requires patience, hard work and sacrifice. Besides, one should have sufficient capital to carry him through several years of struggle. It is believed that over 90 per cent of the people starting new businesses fail. This statement applies not only to developing new kinds of business, but also to starting new factories or opening new stores in competition with opposing factories and stores.

The great mass of people are actuated by their acquired habits. They tend to purchase at the same store, year in and year out, although other stores may give better service. They buy the same kind of food, shoes and household goods even though better products are in the market for less money. They read the same newspaper and magazines, making it very difficult for a new publication to get a foothold. Established habits make it especially hard for new concerns.

Need Of More Education

Of course, there are enough exceptions to the above rule to bait on newcomers who try to do likewise. The few successful new firms, like the few winners in a lottery, keep people continually starting new businesses. I am strongly in favor of helping the small businessman who is already operating a small factory or retail store. But I do advise parents of returning veterans to warn their sons against trying to be pioneers unless they have great patience, good health and sufficient capital. Better buy an established business. But to succeed in any business a man should have a business education.

Therefore, returning service men should go to some school to learn the basic principles of business or else get a job which will enable them to learn such principles. It is a great mistake to go out into the postwar world wtihout first studying economics, accounting, distribution and production whether you are to have a business of your own some day, or are always to work for some one else.

Analyze Your Sons

Every returned service man should analyze himself and determine for what he is best fitted. Here are the six main groups: (1) The professions, such as medicine, law and the ministry. (2) engineering, including chemistry and electricity. (3) Real estate, building and construction work. (4) Agriculture, forestry and horticulture. (5) Manufacturing, designing and assembling. (6) Merchandising, advertising and promotion. But to succeed under competitive postwar conditions, in any one of these groups, a man should have a year's education in business.

To help returning service men get such a business education the U. S. government will give $500 per year for tuition and $50 a month for board and lodging, with perhaps certain additional aid for men with children. Certainly, every returning service man should jump at this chance. In years to come he will look back upon such training for business as the most valuable year of his life.

Play Safe

Just one more word to service men: Don't get hipped with the idea that you should go into electronics, plastics, aviation or some other "new glamorous industry". Don't go back on the old and established industries. Remember that of the 886 concerns which began to manufacture radios following World War I, only 144 now exist! Remember that for every one airplane sold during the postwar era there will be sold a million loaves of bread! Remember that since the days when our great, great, grandparents read by candle light, the humble candle has been subject to fierce competition by whale oil, kerosene, gaslight and electricity. Yet more candles were last last year than in any previous year of our history!

BODY OF WOMAN FOUND IN RIVER

HARRISBURG, July 13.—(INS)—The body of a woman, about 60-years-old, was found lying in shallow water of the Susquehanna river today, a hand resting on the bottom river step.

The body was found by Oscar Barton who was walking along the river promenade. He called to Robert Bogner, a gas station attendant, and the latter notified police.

Police said the woman had gray hair, braided around the top of her head, blue sweater, green polka dot dress and pink undergarments. She was lying face downward in the water when found.

Agreements On Funds For F.E.P.C.

Way Opened For Congress Approval Of 800 Million Dollar War Agencies Fund

WASHINGTON, July 13.—(INS)—The Senate and House were scheduled today to approve the 800 million dollar war agencies appropriation bill in the wake of an agreement authorizing funds for the Fair Employment Practices committee.

A last-minute fight in the House to reduce the appropriation for the Office of War Information, however, delayed a final settlement of the 13-day deadlock over funds for 20 major government war agencies.

The long drawn-out battle over continuation of the FEPC, created in 1940 by President Roosevelt to bar job discrimination, ended late yesterday when both the House and Senate concurred on $250,000 for the wartime agency.

The House-Senate agreement will permit the FEPC to continue for another year, until July 1, 1946, although its activities may have to be curtailed as Congress cut the FEPC's budget in half.

All that remains to be done before sending the war agencies bill to the White House was approval by the House and Senate of a joint conference report.

Argentina's living costs are soaring.

Transfer Pullmans To Military Use

CHICAGO, July 13.—(INS)—The Pullman Company reported today that sleeping car space sufficient to accommodate 20,000 persons nightly will be transferred to exclusive military use at noon Sunday when the railroads hand over 485 Pullman cars to the military car pool.

The sleeping cars are being taken from their regular runs under the Office of Defense Transportation order banning use of these cars between points 450 miles or less apart.

Company officials said more than 29 million troops have traveled in Pullmans in mass moves since Pearl Harbor.

Another Flag For Collection Of Paper Here

So successful was the offer of a silk flag for the collection of waste paper in Shenango township in the June collection that Glenn W. Johnston, principal of the Shenango township schools who offered the flag has repeated the offer for the July collection which occurs on July 21. In addition, a second prize of a fountain pen will be offered.

The June prize went to Clair Robison who collected and turned in 570 pounds of waste paper, a fine record, but one which will probaby take a beating in the July collection.

Townships To Co-operate

Numa F. Vidal, co-chairman of the Waste Paper collection committee said today that Union, Neshannock, Shenango, Scott, Plaingrove and Hickory townships and South New Castle Boro would co-operate again in the July collection.

Citizens of these townships are urged to collect every pound of waste paper they can find and take it to the collection stations. In Shenango township the collection station is the school on the Old Pittsburgh road, on Friday July 20 from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. South New Castle Boro will collect its paper on Saturday morning. Union and Neshannock have the same system and collection places as they have had before as do Scott, Hickory and Plaingrove townships.

The June collection amounted to 60.3 tons of waste paper, a fair collection but nothing like it should have been. July can be a heavy collection if the citizens will save their paper between now and Saturday July 21 and have it ready for the collection trucks.

Ration Free Cars By Next January Now Possibility

WASHINGTON, Jply 13.—(INS)—The prospect of ration-free passenger cars by next January loomed today as the War Production Board indicated output quotas would be increased in the next 60 days.

Henry P. Nelson, reconversion coordinator for the automotive industry, said the improved situation hinged on the availability of raw materials, which, he explained, are expected to increase in the next two months.

Nelson did not real the proposed new car quotas. Some ten manufactures are currently producing 690,000 passenger automobiles under quotas extending to March 31, 1946.

Sen. Vandenberg Says Super-State Is Not Created

United Nations Charter Protects 'Our Essential Sovereignty,' Declares Senator

DETROIT, Mich., July 13.—(INS)—Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg (R) Mich. said today that American ratification of the United Nations charter protects "our essential sovereignty . . . at every turn of the road."

Vandenberg, a delegate to the United Nation security conference in San Francisco, told the Detroit Economic club in a speech that "we have not created a super-state."

"We have not organized a 'world government'," he said. "We have not hauled down the Stars and Stripes from the dome of the capital.

"We have simply agreed to cooperate effectively with 49 other sovereign states in the mutual pursuit of peace and security.

"Our own American self-interest in that objective, as demonstrated by two world wars in a quarter century, is as keen and as intimate and as universal as that of any other nation on this globe."

Despite imperfections in the charter, Vandenberg pledged his support for American ratification with "the deep conviction that the alternative was physical and moral chaos in many places of the earth."

Green And Murray Urge Ratification Of World Charter

WASHINGTON, July 13.—(INS)—Labor Leaders William Green and Philip Murray today joined John Foster Dulles, veteran international lawyer and treaty adviser, in urging immediate senate ratification of the United Nations charter to outlaw war.

Green, president of the AFL, told the senate foreign relations committee that American wage earners "are against war as a political instrumentality and believe that armed force is a last resort. And then only under control of an impartial agency."

Murray, CIO leader, did not appear in person but filed a statement in support of the charter.

Ultimatum Given New York Strikers

NEW YORK, July 13.—(INS)—The Newspaper Publishers Association today called on striking delivery men to return to work at once or face immediate dismissal from their jobs.

Charging that the Independent Mail and Deliverymen's union, whose strike against 14 New York newspapers is in its 13th day, has "misled and badly advised" them, the publishers said:

"Unless the men return to work at once, the publishers are clearly at liberty to terminate employment of the union members."

Late yesterday a War Labor Board directive abrogated the union's contract with the publishers. Earlier, the WLB merely removed from it the closed shop and preferential hiring clauses.

Social Workers From Four Counties Plan Welfare Conference

Social welfare representatives from Clarion, Butler, Armstrong, and Lawrence counties met in the local Red Cross chapter house on Thursday to discuss a social welfare conference for Pennsylvania Region 2, to be held sometime in October.

Called by Mrs. Betty Hessler, home service field representative of the Red Cross, the meeting resulted in the appointment of the following committee to arrange for the conference: program chairman, Miss Elizabeth Breslin, executive secretary of the local Red Cross; chairman of arrangements, Miss Marguerite White, secretary of the Y.W.C.A.; and publicity chairman, Miss Thelma Dundon, captain of the New Castle Salvation Army headquarters.

The conference, which will be open to the public, will have as its theme "Building for a Better Community". About 125 social workers from this district will be delegates. According to tentative arrangements the conference will be a one-day event at The Castleton hotel on October 18.

Another Major Walkout In Akron Now Threatened

AKRON, O., July 13.—(INS)—Another major walkout in the Akron rubber industry threatened today as both United Rubbers Workers union officials and the B. F. Goodrich company met with war manpower commission officials in an effort to forestall the layoff of 200 to 300 women employes.

John Saylor, president of Local 5, CIO-URWA, said that the company employes a surplus of women and has set a Monday deadline for the discharge of a large number unless the WMC relaxes the 48-hour week restrictions and allows a reduction of working hours for Goodrich employes.

"This situation has us worried," Saylor declared, "since there is no question but that the Goodrich workers are in sympathy with the Firestone strike."

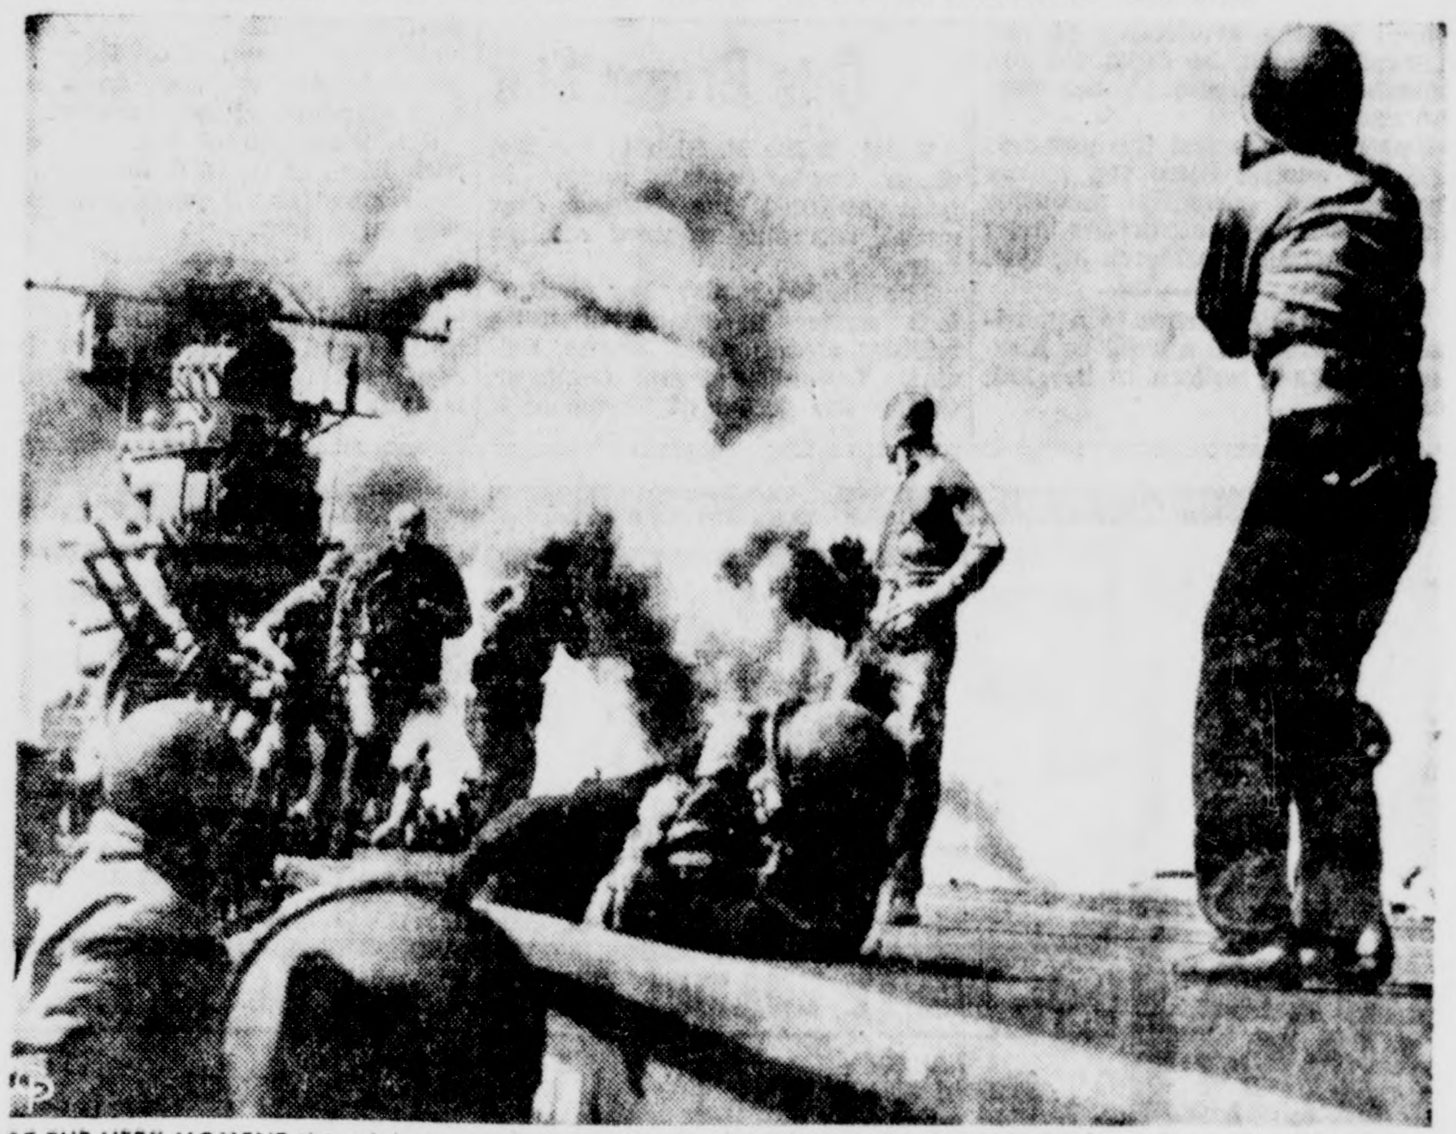
BOMB EXPLODING ON U.S. CARRIER DECK



AT THE VERY MOMENT this picture was being made death took over the flight deck of a U. S. carrier. The ship had been making strikes against Jap-held Indo-China, China and Formosa when one of its own planes landed on the flight deck. As the craft taxied along, the bomb bay doors opened and a 500-pound bomb fell out, exploding on the deck. Fifty-one men died and many others were injured in the resulting fire. The man lying on the edge of the deck was hit and died a few minutes later. Note the tense expressions on the men in the foreground as death strikes within a few yards. Yank Army Weekly photo. Airmen Adopt Blind Youth

Jimmy Osborn, Blind English Boy, Flown To America, Will Get Home, Piano Lessons

NEW YORK, July 13.—(INS)—Warm-hearted American airmen brought to the United States today their nine year-old musical protege, a blind English boy.

Jimmy Osborn landed in New York by Pan American clipper with one of his self-appointed foster parents, Capt. John F. O'Connell of Holyoke, Mass. O'Connell is one of the U. S. Ninth Airforce men who took over the gifted British child.

Jimmy's piano playing entertained American fliers when they were operating out of Britain. Their gratitude was expressed when they arranged to bring him to America where his musical talent will be developed.

Capt. O'Connell was met by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George O'Connell of Holyoke, and his sister, Gertrude. Jimmy will be taken to the Perkins Institution for the blind, Watertown, Mass., where he will be given a home and a chance to continue his musical studies.

STATE LAW WRONG IN DAVIES' OPINION

While there is a state law which prohibits any four-legged animal inside a business-house not only some businessmen but also D. O. Davies, director of city health, do not agree that it is good legislation.

"Some businessmen have told me that they must have cats in and about their business-houses to keep mice and rats away" the health director reported.

He pointed out that one may go to different business sections and see cats lying upon doorsteps or strolling beneath counters which in a great many instances keep rodents out of stores.

NORRISTOWN — The housewife in the market wondered why everyone was staring at her. Later, she discovered she had neglected to collapse her umbrella after coming in out of the rain.

PREVENT FLY BREEDING THROUGH USE OF BORAX

Prevention of fly breeding is the most important single element in fly control, and all farmers can help by following a simple practice which will curb the fly menace by applications of borax. The summer and fall seasons can result in large broods of flies unless control measures are taken now when they are most effective.

Manure piles, providing almost ideal conditions of fly breeding, can be easily treated, without impairing the use of the manure as fertilizer. A practical method of preventing flies from breeding in the manure is available in a borax solution which will kill eggs and maggots. When applied at the rate of one pound of borax to 16 cubic feet—or 10 ounces per 8 bushels of manure, excellent control of fly breeding has been obtained.

Around dairy barns, the use of a half-pound of borax per litter carrier load would be sufficient to prevent fly breeding. It requires from 24 to 48 hours for borax to dissolve in water. It is suggested making up in advance, a mixture of known stock solution, such as 50 pounds of borax in 50 gallons of water. This should be stirred well each time before applying.

After manure has been removed from the barn and piled, it should be treated with the borax solution. Particular attention should be taken to get the edges of the manure pile treated as this is where the greatest fly-breeding takes place.

Soil around pig pens, chicken yards and garbage dumps also may be treated with borax with good results. In these places, the powdered borax may be sprinkled liberally over the ground.

Borax has some effect in reducing fermentation and loss of nitrogen from manure, particularly horse manure. Borax also is deficient in some soils for best growth of crops, particualrly alfalfa. Excessive applications of borax are detrimental to some crops, so that borax-treated manure should be applied at not over 10 loads per acre, preferably on alfalfa or sod crops.

WAYS TO HOLD COLOR IN CANNED FRUIT

For home canners who have had trouble with canned peaches, pears, and plums discoloring and changing in flavor, there are several ways they prevent this unpleasant darkening.

One way, for peaches especially, is to scald the peaches a half minute in boiling water then slip the skins instead of peeling the fruit. Do only a few at a time, and as each peach is skinned, slide it directly into a clean jar and pour hot sugar sirup over the fruit as soon as the jar is filled.

Another way to help prevent darkening is to add a slice of lemon to each jar of fruit. Citric acid powder, 1 teaspoon to 6 cups of regular sugar sirup, will also help to hold color and flavor in canned peaches, pears and plums.

Tablets of Vitamin C (ascorbic acid), though more expensive, may be added to fruit to help hold its color and flavor. Scientists of the Massachusetts Experiment Station recommend 1 1-4 tablets of 100 milligram strength or 2½ tablets of 50 milligram strength for each pint jar. At present prices of tablets in drug stores, the cost is about 2 cents per pint jar. The addition of the vitamin C tablets isn't necessary to keep the fruit from spoiling—they simply help hold the flavor and color in home canned fruit. Recently vitamin C has been used in packing frozen fruits to prevent darkening.

Laurel Avenue Adds To Pet Exhibit List

Nine youngsters were especially proud of their ribbon-winning pets after the Laurel Avenue playground's pet show Thursday afternoon.

With Helen Clark, Frances Morrow, Carole Burke, Raymond Hoch, Carl Appel, and Oliver Hoch as judges, the first prize ribbons went to Barbara Jean Monsey's cocker spaniel, the fattest pet; to Eugene Morse's setter, the largest pet; to Walter Lyon's garter snake, the smallest pet; to Joanne Hoch's dog the cleanest pet; to Joe Dagnan's dog, who appeared as a member of the Red Cross Corps and won the ribbon for the best-dressed pet; to Judy Daton's dog, the smartest pet; to Walter Merritt's bantam rooster, the most unusal pet; to Peggy Flynn's family of three kittens, the most lovable pets; and to Walter Lyon's dog, the best pal.

Second prizes were won by Joan Carkitto's dog; Buddy Wucinich's pair of frogs; and by Edna Mae Cameron's dog. Miss Nancy Rugh, playground director, supervised the show.

British Naval Losses Light

Escorted 75,000 Merchant Ships Over Atlantic, Only Lost 574 Ships

LONDON, July 13.—(INS)—British, Dominion and European navies under English control escorted 75,000 merchant ships across the Atlantic in five years and eight months of war with losses of only 574 vessels, the Admiralty announced today.

The first complete summary of the Atlantic battle disclosed that approximately 2,200 convoys, the largest of which consisted of 167 ships, crossed the Atlantic during the period, yet the average loss was only one ship out of each 131 that sailed.

Sunk Plenty of Subs

Some days as many as 700 ships were on the sea at the same time, along with 100 escorting vessels.

Total mileage of convoyed vessels during the war period exceeded 200 million, while escorting vessels made 13,200 escort voyages.

A total of 460 German and 65 Italian submarines were sunk by British naval and air forces, and information from captured U-boat officers indicated that the Nazis lost 120 more than this figure.

PREPARATIONS FOR ICE SKATING

Although Ol' Sol was flirting warmly with Mother Earth today the fact remains that preparations for winter ice skating were under way, according to Joe Frengel of the Mayor's Recreation committee. He reported that the committee had a contractor working with a bulldozer at the Mahoning Avenue ice rink. It will be filled with water and people will be able to skate as soon as the ice is sufficiently thick, he stated.

TIDE HAS TURNED FOR CHINA, IN NINTH YEAR OF WAR

FIELD DRILL. In the firing of bazookas at the Infantry Training School of the Youth Army Cadre Training Center. All photos are by George Alexanderson.

CHANGTEH. Bitter street fighting was characteristic of the vicious battle here. Changteh, lost to the Japs in December, 1943, now has been re-won by Allies.

MU-SE. It was here the forces met. A Chinese GI of the Chinese Salween force and an American-equipped GI of the 38th division, First Army, get together.

THE CHINA WAR, entering its ninth year July 7, now has become an offensive, not defensive, war. When the European war broke out in 1939 the China war was two years old. This last year has made a difference to the Chinese. For the first time since the Marco Polo bridge incident on July 7, 1937 China passed a war year in which she climbed from the depths of exhaustion and despair to a place from which the victorious end of her war is in sight. During the last half of 1944 a new and desperate Jap offensive not only succeeded in splitting China in two but, until it was turned back, it came near to threatening Chungking, the provisional capital. During the first six months of this year, however, Allied counter-offensives in Burma and China have turned the tide against the invaders. (International)

SOME ATTACHING BELLS TO CATS

Several persons who own cats have already attached bells to their pets and as a consequence there will be fewer song birds and squirrels killed in New Castle. However, some others who own felines have been unable to purchase small bells, they report.

Some people who like song birds and other forms of wild life believe that a bell tied around a cat's neck, will save many birds, two having been killed by cats recently, according to reports reaching Mayor John F. Haven.

Mark Twain had such a horror of losing manuscripts that he drew a chalk line on the floor around his desk and the maid was forbidden to crosse the line even to dust.

B-R-R! OWEN FOX GIVES BAD NEWS!

Usually Owen Fox, the local naturalist, comes forth with a report pleasant to take but today he reported something that, like oil, was hard to take, or namely——

Mr. and Mrs. and their families can expect an early fall!

Sycamore trees are shedding their bark three weeks early this year. They do not usually shed until August. This is a sign of fall, the naturalist reported.

Tommy Holmes Goes Hitless After 37 Games

Hank Wyse Of Cubs Stops Boston Slugger In First Game, Pirates Defeat Phils

SENATORS SURGE TOWARD LOOP LEAD

By LES CONKLIN
(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, July 13.—The St. Louis Cardinals and Chicago Cubs who had been bragging about what they were going to do to eastern contenders for the National league pennant race, had to revise their calculations a bit today.

As the crucial intersectional competition got under way, the New York Giants nosed out the Cardinals 9 to 7 in a bitterly fought battle last night.

Tommy Holmes Stopped

The Cubs started out all right, winning their 11th straight game, 6 to 1, when Hank Wyse uncorked a three-hit game against the Boston Braves in the first game of a twin bill, but they came back to win 3 to 1 behind Nate Andrews' five-hit pitching.

In the opener Wyse stopped Tommy Holmes after the Boston outfielder had hit safely in 37 consecutive games.

After losing to Cincinnati 4 to 3, Brooklyn held on to second place by racking up an 11 to 5 triumph in the second game.

Pittsburgh gained an even break for the west in the senior circuit by blanking the Phillies, 4 to 0, behind Nick Strincevich's five-hit pitching.

Legion League Changes Schedule

Starting next week, games in the American Legion Junior league, which were scheduled for Tuesday evenings, will be played on Wednesday evenings. Games scheduled for tonight will be played on the grounds announced. Chairman Earl C. Moffatt announces, all games scheduled for Friday evenings remaining as they were before the change.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

IT HAS BEEN some time since that once great bantam-featherweight, Patsy Brannigan, paid a visit to the city in which he headquartered. The last time he was here he was accorded a great reception by the rank and file. In fact, it took him almost an hour to walk a block. At present, he is dispatching elevators in the City-County building, Pittsburgh. Patsy fought about 600 times having subbed for his late brother, Marty, at the age of 13. During his career he fought any opponent he was asked to meet and among them were Bantamweight Champions Jimmy Walsh, Johnny Coulon, Kid Williams and the Featherweight King Johnny Kilbane. He went out of the featherweight class upon one or two occasions but suffered none the worse. During his career he was once phoned by his late manager, Jimmie Dime. Dime said he had received a request from New York for his services, after which Dime asked Patsy if he wanted to "fight for Home Rule", that being the era when the Irish question was uppermost in every son of Erin's head. "Home Rule? Say, who is he?" asked Patsy. "I never heard of him as a promoter" . . . . Fernie Hanlon, city treasurer, who also likes to witness boxing bouts and who because of his association with boys in every rank of life, knows fighters fairly well, recalled a few days when Tony Ross, who passed away not so long ago was taken by Dime to box Joe Jeannette, in New York. At that time Jeannette was one of the most prominent of colored heavyweights. They were battling fiercely when the gong sounded, ending a round. "Use your head!" exclaimed Dime because Tony was not following instructions. The bell sounded for the next round. Out went Tony, and the first thing he did was to butt Jeannette! He lost the fight.

Met an excellent fly fisherman yesterday — Wayne Sines, and if what Wayne reports is true, the Allegheny will be a big disappointment to fishermen this year. Sines asserts that there are few fish there because acid, which he has been told, was dumped into the water in Warren vicinity, has either killed or driven fish away. "It is like this" said Wayne. "If you are swimming in a creek and there is something in the water that, while it doesn't kill you, will cause your body to grow a rash, you're going to move away from that section, aren't you?" To this we replied affirmatively and this is exactly what Wayne believes fish have done — moved away from once good fishing points. He reports he has been using flies and catching some fair sized bass in French Creek in Utica vicinity.

Oddities occur not only in the ring, on the diamond, tennis court, but also in fishing. Not so long ago Paul Bixler reported having noticed a commotion in a stream and found a snake trying to swallow a catfish. He cites another experience recently. He was fishing in the Neshannock and caught a goldfish which reminds us that the goldfish one formerly saw in an Erie fish house display tank came from Lake Erie. . . . Some time ago we published a report of Weaver Fessler having seen Ellis Zimmerman, Hartstown, have a pet robin display his worm catching ability. Weaver reported the robin was so well trained it deposited the worms into a can. A few days ago Fessler reports he received word that Zimmerman took the robin to Conneaut Lake and displaying its ability when a cat darted around a building and so severely injured the red-breast it died. "Is Zimmerman going to train another robin to catch worms for him?" we inquired. "Takes a long time to do that" said Weaver who swears he was not springing a bird yarn but telling the truth".

Acting in a reportorial capacity one gets Here & There and hearing that at last, recreation officials had recognized the Croton districtand installed a playground, we visited the place yesterday. It is along East Brook road. The playground is located 50 feet from the road and is a large flat section of ground. Scores of children were using various equipment there yesterday while Viales Metta instructed the Kiddies what and what not to do. It is possible the city fathers will provide some calcium chloride to lay the dust. Possibly, it may also plant some grass seed next fall and if it does the playground will become one of the nicest in the city. There is considerable traffic there. Possibly city officials will erect warning signs in the street. There were several hundred persons there Wednesday when a Dog Show was held. It was a neat affair with Pat Burke, Shirl Miles and Tom Craney acting as judges.

Battle Hymn, three year-old owned by Col. J. H. Whitney of New York, was the winner of the Royal Hunt Cup race at Ascot, England, paying off at 51 to 1. The Hymn was sweet music to the ears of the bettors who had him. . . . News item out of Philadelphia reveals that 14 men were arrested for gambling in the left field bleachers during a game between the Phils and Cubs in Shibe Park. Anybody caught betting on the Phils won't have a chance to deny it—for that's really gambling!

Ellwood Bumps Edenburg 7-2

"Specs" Ferrante Outpitches Jess Exposito To Give Ellwood Victory

Ellwood City's first-half championship baseball club continued undefeated in two second-half starts last night by bumping the Edenburg Tigers 7 to 2 in a Lawrence County League game at Edenburg field. Ralph "Specs" Ferrante, the aging veteran outpitched Jess Exposito to give Ellwood the nod.

Ellwood got to Exposito in the first frame for three runs and came back in the third to chalk up four more, while Edenburg could not hit Ferrante except in the third when they got both of their scores. The game was loosely played with seven errors chalked up by both teams combined, aiding somewhat in the scoring of runs. Ferrante, Neiper, McClintock, Hangst and Chiero did the longest hitting in the contest.

Sunday the Ellwood team plays host to the Moose club in a first place battle at Ewing Park, Ellwood, while Edenburg journeys to Hillsville for a Sunday struggle.

Hope To Stop Byron Nelson

DAYTON, O., July 13.—(INS)—You can bet that any unfavorable happenings in the quarter finals of the 27th National PGA tournament at Moraine Country club today will be blamed on the age-old Friday the 13th jinx.

And maybe this so-called jinx day, with all of its super-power, will be able to do what most of the nation's golfing greats have found impossible—namely stop par-breaking Byron Nelson of Toledo, O., and ex-baseballer Sammy Byrd of Detroit, Mich.

As third round play opened, with only eight contestants left from a record field of 143 entrants, Nelson and Byrd were standout favorites to battle into Sunday's championship finals.

Legion Defeats Hillsville Club

Bo Smiley And Wimer Hold Hillsville To Eight Hits In North Hill Game 14 To 5

The American Legion All-Stars inaugurated Lawrence County baseball to the North Hill last night for the first time at George Washington field, and trampled Hillsville under a 14 to 5 count with Bo Smiley and Fritz Wimer limiting the invaders to eight hits. Over 500 fans witnessed the game.

The Legion boys pounced on Krull in the first inning for ten runs and then Dolly Hartman, an old timer, took over the pitching and the Legion's run-making was slowed down. Smiley was relieved in the sixth by Wimer, after fanning eight batters. Hartman fanned seven men.

Wimer had the longest hit, a triple, while Shelar and Chuck Tanner had doubles, but Gentile was the batting star for the Legion with four hits. Grist and Krull led the Hillsvilles at bat.

Sunday the Legion will play the Wampum Victory club at Marshall field, it was announced.

Brooklyn Bums Face Tough Ride

CINCINNATI, July 13.—(INS)—Facing a transportation jam, the Brooklyn Dodgers were hopeful today of aid from Ford Frick, president of the National league.

After playing a night game in Pittsburgh next Tuesday, the Dodgers will have to ride in a day coach all night and then play a doubleheader the next day in Chicago. The Pittsburgh club has refused to advance the Tuesday game to Monday because there has been a big advance sale for the contest.

The Brooklyn club fears this situation is hurting its pennant chances, and has asked Frick to untangle the travel snarl.

and one-half games of first place by defeating the Chicago White Sox, 4 to 2. The Senators were heartened by news that Capt. Buddy Lewis, their former third baseman-outfielder, is getting out of the army and will rejoin them next week.

Jim Wilson of the Boston Red Sox won a 2 to 1 box duel from Hal Newhouser, Detroit's 13-game winner. In addition to turning in a six-hitter, Hilson figured in both of the Boston runs.

Jeff Heath's three-run homer staked Cleveland to a 7 to 4 decision over the New York Yankees.

The delightful uncertainty of the national pastime was demonstrated by the Philadelphia Athletics. After winning only two games of 22 on the road, the A's returned home and collected that many victories in one full swoop by blanking the St Louis Browns twice, 4 to 0 and 11 to 0.

Moose Score Seven Runs In Fourth Inning To Defeat Wampum 8 To 5

New Castue Moose club baseball team remained deadlocked with Ellwood City for the Lawrence County baseball league lead last night at Marshall field by trimming the Wampum Victory club 8 to 5. The winning hurler was Probst, who gave way to Leroy Anderson in the sixth inning.

It was the second win for the Rodenbaugh coaches team without a defeat the second half. Heavy hitting in the game was done by Krosen with three bingles, one a triple, and by Houston and Wagner with two hits apiece for the Moose, and Huffman and Morrow two each for Wampum, the former hitting a long triple.

The losing pitcher was Powell, who was relieved by Hairhogger in

SECOND SURGING AFTER EPWORTH

First-Half Champs Continue Lead By Small Margin; F. Palmer, G. Stitzinger Medalists

Second U. P. church golf team is in second place today in the New Castle church golf league as a result of trimming the First Christians last night 5 to 1 at Castle Hills course, but Epworth the first-half champs continued their fine play and defeated Harbor U. P. 5 to 1 to keep a 2½ point lead over the surging Second U. P. "darkhorses." St. Paul's Lutheran's well-balanced team smothered Mahoning 4 to 2, and continue threats.

The First U. P. team gained a "Mexican standoff" with the First Presbyterians to also stay near the top of the heap, and Mahoning seven points keeps them in a dangerous spot. The First Presbyterians cellar champs the first-half are in there with six points and are climbing.

F. Palmer-G. Stitzinger Medalists

Fred Palmer of the Second U. P. team and George Stitzinger of the Epworth team, shared medalist honors last night with sizzling 36 cards, one over par, on the par 35 front nine. Bob Palmer, a newcomer to the league shot a "hot" 37 card as did Clyde "Tapper" Jackson of the Harbor U. P. team, both boys being two-over regulation figures. Other low cards were turned in as follows: E. Palmer 39, Lou Lautenslager 39, Elder Wallace 39, Jack Halabe 39, Ernie Smith 39, Tom Baum 40, Ben Orcutt 40.

Storekeeper's Death Under Investigation

PITTSBURGH, July 13.—(INS)—Pittsburgh police today launched a probe into the death of Herman Ostfeld, 53, owner of a novelty shop, who died after a scuffle with a friend.

The friend, Louis Dalo, 32, told police he helped Ostfeld to a seat and then went for a glass of water. When he returned, he found the older man had fallen against a show case, cutting his face. He died several hours later in a hospital without regaining consciousness. Attendants said he died of a hemorrhage, but an autopsy had been ordered.

Dalo was not held, police declared.

Joyce Favored To Beat Ruffin

NEW YORK, July 13.—(INS)—Willie Joyce of Gary, Ind., is a 1 to 2 favorite to defeat Bobby Ruffin, New York lightweight, in a 12-round bout at Madison Square Garden tonight.

Joyce holds two decisions over Ike Williams, N.B.A. champion, in non-title bouts.

Fair Or Foul

By LAWTON CARVER
(International News Service Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, July 13.—For the first time in many weeks or months, the fight customers of New York are about to look at something that passes as the stamp of excellence in boxing. They are about to see a left hand.

This is an essay on left hands. If you don't like essays on left hands turn to the comics.

It so happens, starting the essay at the beginning, that the left hand is the major defensive and offensive weapon in boxing if it is properly developed and carried to the point where an opponent is perpetually befuddled by it.

This is what Willie Joyce has sought to do—through practice and application, make his left hand something that can't be beat. Joyce is no world beater as a fighter. He has had his ups and downs since he left Gary, Ind., and headed for the coast and made his way to New York. But there isn't a better left hand in the business than his.

The left hand is like a long pole stuck out there in front of a man in boxing. It is a thing upon which the opponent impales himself. Once impaled, he stands still for a moment while his brains are being battered out.

Defensively, it sticks an opponent off balance and stops right hand punches. In fact, it prevents right hand punches from even starting.

In this 12-rounder on tonight, when Joyce will meet Bobby Ruffin, the customers may wind-up looking at a beaten Joyce, but they will have watched in execution something that thrills the devout fight followers. That is the best left hand in the business.

Should Suspend Ruffin

The fight itself is not very important. As a matter of fact if the New York State Athletics Commission does its duty Ruffin will be suspended indefinitely right after the bout in keeping with an edict handed down in New Jersey.

The New York battler was outlawed in our sister state because of his antics before a recent bout and New Jersey has asked New York to concur in the ban. It wasn't applied before now because Ruffin already had signed contracts to meet Joyce.

Ruffin is a misguided little guy who thinks screwball antics are colorful. He leaves fight arenas for a walk just before he is to go on and he indulges in other idiotic antics. He's just another prizefighter.

Joyce isn't much better, insofar as his importance to the pugilistic scene is concerned.

However, the latter has attempted to build up his ability around the greatest single piece of equipment a boxer can have—that tantalizing, sometimes tough left hand.

The old-timers will turn out en masse for this bout just to see Joyce work that portside paw of his.

All of which is the end of an essay on a left hand, and I'm as tired of it as you are.

POLICE ARREST MAN THREE YEARS AFTER "SUICIDE"

PITTSBURGH, July 13.—(INS)—The arrest of Sylvester George Abt, former Sharpsburg mailman, today ended the three-year-old question of his whereabouts.

Arrested in Washington, Pa., Abt was indicted three years ago for the theft of $55 in cash from a letter he was carrying and for failure to report for induction into the Army.

After his indictment, the finding of his clothes on a bridge led to the belief he had committed suicide.

STOCK TRADING MARGIN NARROW

Price Changes During Morning In New York Market Are Small

NEW YORK, July 13—(INS)—Rallying power to renew itself in the stock market this morning and prices returned to a narrow, mixed rut. Most issues, after yesterday's brief but lively spurt, remained close to previous closes.

Trading volume dropped to another new hourly low, approximately only 150,000 shares in the first hour.

Rail issues were dull and a shade lower on the average. Steel stocks tended higher at the opening but settled to minor losses soon after. General Motors and Willys Overland were quiet at losses of about ¼.

Aviations were neglected except for Pan American Airways, unchanged at 19⅝. General Electric and Westinghouse Electric carved out gains at the start, then rested. Utilities were mixed. American Distilling dropped 2 points.

Trading on the bond market was limited with price changes insignificant.

Report Japanese Left On Mindanao Commit Suicide

Terrified Jap Civilians In Mass Suicide Program Says Report

MANILA, July 13.—(INS)—Terrified Japanese civilians, abandoned by their Army in the hills of Mindanao, were committing mass suicide today rather than give themselves up to the Americans.

Sick, starving and afraid of capture, a group of 40 women and children recently were found in the Tamogan sector with their throats cut Most had committed suicide—those who would not were murdered by their comrades.

A Formosan civilian said the sole survivor of the group was a 12-year-old girl who revealed that the party had been left behind by the Japs. The group was malaria-ridden half-starved and frantic.

According to the report, mothers killed their children and then themselves.

One captured Japanese sergeant told officers of the 24th Division that he was certain the Japs would never surrender in large numbers no matter how hopeless their positions might be.

Defense Councils Will Continue On Volunteer Basis

HARRISBURG, July 13.—(INS)—The reorganization of the state defense council beginning Sunday, which will place workers on a volunteer basis and save the commonwealth approximately $142,000 a year, was expected today by Gov. Edward Martin to be completed by September 1.

"County and local councils of defense are urged to reach a volunteer basis as early as convenient, but to maintain all services intact whether active or not, and to maintain control centers which can be activated by the state disaster plan when emergencies arise," the governor said.

"The President of the United States, when closing the Office of Civilian Defense, made a personal appeal to me to conitnue the defense activities of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and included the same request in his public announcement closing the Federal office," he added.

"Due to the depletion of police forces and fire companies, our auxiliary police and firemen are needed and must not be dismissed," Governor Martin said. "The state disaster plan contemplates, in great emergencies, the use of every resource of the protective services."

State Distributes 3,500,000 Trees During Past Spring

HARRISBURG, July 13.—(INS)—The Department of Forests and Waters announced today that 3,500,000 seedlings and transplanted trees from state-owned nurseries were distributed to private land owners and commonwealth agencies during the spring.

R. Lynn Emerick, director of the department's bureau of forests, said that since the first nursery was opened at Mount Alto, Franklin county, in 1902, a total of 215,000,000 seedlings and "transplants" have been distributed by the state.

Eighty-seven acres of state forest lands were given over to nurseries located at Clearfield, Clearfield county; Greenwood Furnace, Huntingdon county; Mount Alto, and a small transplant station at Potters Mills, Centre county.

"The distribution of the trees is not as great as formerly because farmers and land owners cannot get the men to plant them," Emerick said.
